BASKETBALL TIPS + TERMS

Do you know how to play basketball as well as Michael Jordan? If you read these tips, you will! Or maybe not. Either way, come back soon to learn some basketball terms as well!

- It's always a good idea to warm up before games. Stretch and do moderate calisthenics.
- Practice handling the ball with both your left and right hands. Set up four or five cones about four feet apart in a line and dribble the ball while moving in and out of the line, switching back and forth from right to left hands as you pass each cone on the opposite side. Start slowly and build up speed as your ball handling skills improve.
- Keep your head up when dribbling the ball to make a pass. By learning how to dribble the ball without looking at it, you can more easily spot a teammate.
- When playing defense, slide from side to side to cover your opposing player. Do not cross your legs. It's helpful to practice sliding on the court.
- When handling the ball, always keep the other hand up. It helps with your balance and makes it easier to switch hands.
- Always keep your knees and back slightly bent when playing defense.
- Protect the ball by keeping your body between the ball and the defender and keeping your free arm up.

Test Case

The postwar inventors of the Scholastic Aptitude Test hoped to produce a brainier brand of meritocracy in the United States. But as Nicholas Lemann reveals in The Big Test, the SAT hit a great many ideological potholes up creating yet another, pencil-pushing elite. Go to Books

CSS Grid Layout - CR

Global 69.57% + 5.77% = 75.34%

unprefixed: 69.57%

Method of using a grid concept to lay out content, providing a mechanism for authors to divide available space for layout into columns and rows using a set of predictable sizing behaviors. Includes support for all `grid-*` properties and the `fr` unit.
