

Match the sentences (1-7) to the descriptions (A-G).

We must/have to switch our mobile phones off in class.

You must see a doctor.

Tom has to go to an internet café to use a computer.

You mustn't bring your MP3 player to school.

I don't have to share a computer at home - I have my own laptop.

You should/ought to buy a Wii - they're great!

You shouldn't play video games for too long.

It's my strong advice.

I'm not obliged./
I don't need to.

It's the rule.

I think it's a good idea.
/ It's my advice.

He needs to.

I think it's a bad idea.
/ It's my advice.

It's forbidden. It's against the rules.

Rewrite the sentences, using modals MUST - HAVE TO - SHOULD

I think it's a bad idea
to play computer
games for hours.

It's a good idea to set the volume on your MP3 player at a low level.

Rewrite the sentences, using modals MUST - HAVE TO - SHOULD

It's forbidden to enter the computer lab.

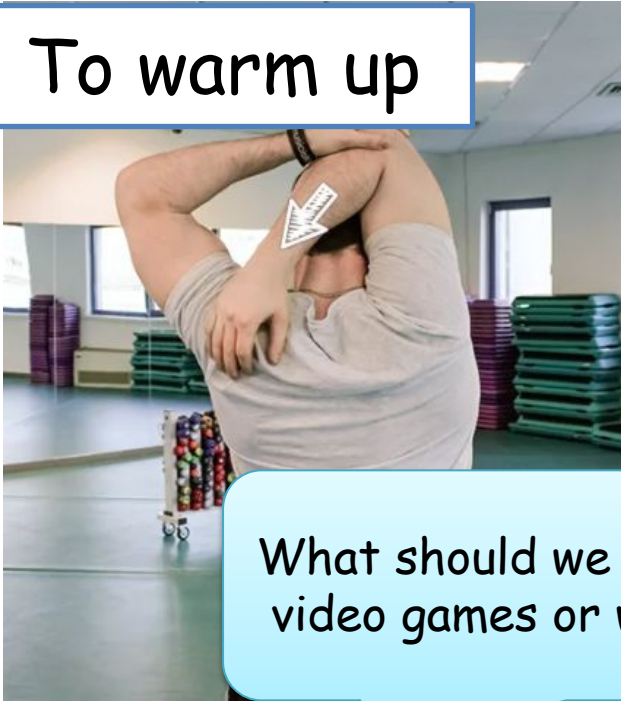

You don't need to pay in cash.

Use the pictures and phrases. Give some advice.

To warm up

What should we do before playing video games or what can we get?

We should warm up before we start playing a video game or we can get shoulder strain.

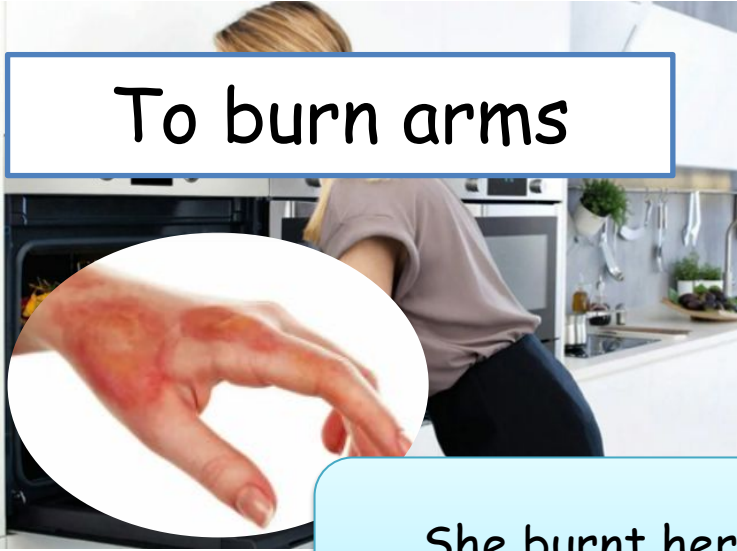

To get shoulder strain

Use the pictures and phrases. Give some advice.

To burn arms

She burnt her hands. What should she do?

To put under cold water

She should put her hands under cold water then put some honey on them.

To put honey

Use the pictures and phrases. Give some advice.

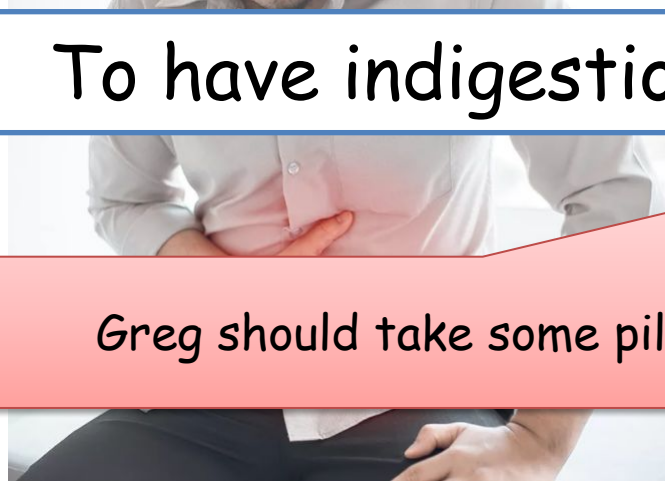

To have indigestion

Greg should take some pills.

Greg has eaten a lot of bananas. Now he has indigestion. What should he do?

To eat bananas

To take some pills

Use the pictures and phrases. Give some advice.

To drink lemon water with honey

They should drink warm lemon juice with honey.

To have a cold

They have a cold. What should they do?

Rewrite the sentences using CAN, CAN'T, MIGHT, or MAY.

can't

You aren't allowed to wear your shoes in here.

You can't wear your shoes in here.

Rewrite the sentences using CAN,

might/may

It's just possible that I'll go to the doctor's on Friday

I might/may go to the doctor's on Friday.

Rewrite the sentences using CAN, CAN'T, MIGHT or MAY

may/can

You are allowed to go now.

You may/can go now.

Rewrite the sentences using CAN,

might/may

It's possible that a cup of tea will help get rid of your headache.

A cup of tea might/may help get rid of your headache.

Rewrite the sentences using CAN,

might/may

It's just possible that some honey will help your sore throat.

Some honey might/may help your sore throat.

Rewrite the sentences using CAN, CANNOT or MAY.

can't

I'm not able to go out today. I've got a bad cold.

I can't go out today. I've got a bad cold.

Rewrite the sentence using MIGHT, MIGHT, or MAY.

might/may

If ~~you~~ have smelly feet, it's just possible that baking soda will help you.

If you have smelly feet,
baking soda might/may
help you.

Rewrite the sentences using CAN, can't, MIGHT, or MAY.

can't

It's prohibited to enter this area.

You can't enter this area.

Study the table and find an example in the text, then complete the sentences.

- We had to/didn't have to to talk about necessity/lack of necessity in the past.
- We use could/couldn't to talk about general ability in the past
- We use was/were able to to talk about a specific ability in the past.

2. I was able to cure my upset stomach with some raw ginger. It really worked!

Study the table and find an example in the text, then complete the sentences.

- We had to/didn't have to to talk about necessity/lack of necessity in the past.
- We use could/couldn't to talk about general ability in the past
- We use was/were able to to talk about a specific ability in the past.

4. Sam sprained his ankle this morning and .... had to ..... go to the hospital.

Study the table and find an example in the text, then complete the sentences.

- We had to/didn't have to to talk about necessity/lack of necessity in the past.
- We use could/couldn't to talk about general ability in the past
- We use was/were able to to talk about a specific ability in the past.

What medical advice might a doctor give you if you have: an ear infection? A sprained ankle or wrist? A sore throat? An infected mosquito bite?

You have an ear infection. You should .....

You have a sprained ankle/wrist.

You have a sore throat.

You have an infected mosquito bite.

