

THE TRANSPORTATION SYSTEM IN OTTAWA

Ottawa - a city where buses and cars - is the main transport, in addition, the road here simply in excellent condition. Their length is very great, all local roads woven into a dense network, which covers the city and the suburbs.

Buses in Ottawa

Ottawa - it is one of the rare cities where buses follow a very precise schedule. Additionally, traffic density varies at different times and reaches its maximum intensity in the rush hour. Typically, at this time buses move with at least one flight of 5 minutes. All buses are modern and comfortable, in addition, they are equipped with air conditioning. Travel mark on the ticket makes the driver, usually one ticket valid for several trips, since it is not issued by one run, and for a certain period of time.

Ottawa Rail transport

In the city, tourists and residents are able to actively use the rail. As a rule, this transport is more comfortable than the bus, however, it has a disadvantage - the train moving at low speed, leading to an increase in travel time. The fare in a suburban, and even long-distance train, went to the capital to be lower than in the bus, which is why this transport demand.

Air transport in Ottawa

Since Ottawa - it is one of the central cities of large country like Canada, there is a very busy airport, which is constantly observed demand for airline services. However, this does not make more available tickets for flights. Locals as well as tourists and some who know about the possibility to save money, acquire tickets for flights during sales and promotions.

