

Abish Kekilbaev

1 Biography

2 Achievements

3 Creativity

4 Romans

5 Awards

Орындаған: Сейтбекова Сымбат
Топ: Кяил 18-22

Personal details

Born

6 December 1939

in the village of

Ondy Mangystau

Region, Kazakh SSR

Died

11 December

2015(aged 76)

Astana, Kazakhstan

Nationality

Kazakh

Alma mater

Al-Farabi Kazakh

National University

Senator of Kazakhstan

In office

October 2005 – March 2010

President

Nursultan Nazarbayev

Succeeded by

Mukhtar Altynbayev

In office

February 2002 – October 2005

President

Nursultan Nazarbayev

Secretary of State

In office

October 1996 – January 2002

President

Nursultan Nazarbayev

Preceded by

Akhmetzhan Yessimov

Succeeded by

Kassym-Jomart Tokayev

The Chairman of the Supreme Soviet of the Republic of Kazakhstan

In office

5 February 1994 – 11 March 1995

President

Nursultan Nazarbayev

Preceded by

Serikbolsyn Abdildin

2 Achievements

He has written over 50 books, which have become a notable phenomenon in the literary life of Kazakhstan. Including historical novels "Pleiades - a constellation of hope" and "Flashes", for which the author was awarded the State Prize of the Republic of Kazakhstan named after Abay. The most famous works are the novel "The End of the Legend", the novels "Ballads of Forgotten Years", "Well", "Competition", "House on the Outskirts", "Prize Runner" and others. The stories - "The happiest day", "After the meeting", "The White Rose", "The Straw of Fortune" and others are translated into many languages. The thoughts of different years of the publicist and statesman were included in the last three books of the writer.

3 Creativity

Urker is a large-scale historical novel describing the situation of the Kazakh writer Abish Kekilbayevich when joining the Russian Empire. This historical novel consists of two novels by Abish Kekilbayevich Urker (1981) and Elene-Square (1984).

Public and political figure,
Hero of Labor, National writer of Kazakhstan, laureate of the State Prize, a philologist, academician of the Academy of Social Sciences, Emeritus
Professor of Al-Farabi Kazakh
National University and of the
L. Gumilyov Eurasian State University.

5 Awards