Interesting about the tiger

Powerful predators, tigers - the biggest feline . Interesting facts about tigers - appearance, strength, speed, habits. There are six types of feline - Amur, Indochinese, South Chinese, Sumatran, Malay, Bengali

Appearance

The color of tigers is very different - golden, white, black, perhaps there are blue tigers. The stripes on the fur of a tiger are arranged in a special order, they are unique, two tigers cannot have the same coloring. Also, the stripes do not change with age, they can identify the tiger, as if by fingerprints. If a part of the wool is shaved, it will have the same stripes - the skin is colored the same way as the wool.

Hunting

Tigers have round-shaped pupils, rather than oblong ones, like domestic cats. Wild striped predators go hunting early in the morning and in the evening. Tigers almost always attack prey from behind. If a predator is in front of a person, most likely he did not plan to attack, and the probability of an attack decreases. It is impossible to escape from a predator - it attacks at a speed of 60 kilometers per hour.
