

THE MOST INTERESTING PLACES FOR TRAVELLING IN THE WORLD

Nauru, Micronesia

Nauru is a tiny island state with a population of less than 10,000. She is one of the least visited places in the world - simply because she knows little about her. Nauru hides kilometers of pristine beaches and forests - so if you want to relax on a paradise island, hurry to buy a ticket there.

The Monastery «Tiger Nest” Paro valley, Bhutan

This XVII century temple is on the edge of a rock, at an altitude of almost 1000 meters above the Paro valley. The holy place was built to protect the cave, in which the Buddhist leader Padmasambhava gurus meditated for three years, three months, three weeks, three days, and three

Stairs to Haikou, Hawaii

Known as "Stairs to Heaven," this hiking trail runs along the mountainous area of Oahu Island in Hawaii. 3992 steps rise to 850 meters above sea level and open the charming view of the island.

Chefchaouen, Morocco

Chefchaouen is a small town lying on the reefs of the Reef Mountains in the northwest of Morocco. It was founded in 1471. Now the city is known primarily for its old part, almost all buildings are painted in different shades of blue. The reason for this choice is in religion. In addition to the Muslims, Chefchaouen has long been the home of a rather large community of Sephardic Jews. They brought with them the belief that the blue color is

Lord Howe Island, Australia

This island is still practically not occupied by a person: a very small indigenous population and only 400 tourists are allowed here every year. Such a restriction is intended to protect the unique Landscape of Lord How, a crystal clear lagoon which is a

Caves of Melissani, Kefalonia, Greece

In Greek mythology, the nymphs inhabited this mysterious cave and lured men to their beauty. Through the huge hole in the "ceiling" into the cave penetrates the sunlight, shining on the surface of the cleanest lake Melissani.
