

Karaganda State Medical University

The department of foreign languages

Presentation of the work:

Flat and House

Performed by the 1st year student: Abutalipov M.B.

Checked by: Kenjebekova R.S.

Karaganda 2010

Plan

- I. A FLAT
- II. A HOUSE
- III. CONTENTS

- The main advantage of living in a flat usually situated in a town, so everything is near and handy. There are all the shops, offices, many places where to go when you want to have fun, many friends.

Flat

- An average flat has a small hall. From this hall you can usually go to every room in the house. Kitchen is quite small too, with a cooker and several kitchen counters. There is a place for the table and chairs. If you are lucky, you can fit also a fridge there. The toilet and bathroom can be separated or be situated in one room. Because the kitchen, bathroom and the toilet are so small, people often build them, according to their own wishes. Of course, this happens only after an agreement with the council or owner of the flat. The other rooms are in general big enough. In the living-room, there is usually a sofa, couple of arm-chairs, a coffee table. The television cannot be missing. In every living - room , there are shelves, cabinets filled with porcelain or other decorations, sometimes flowers.

House

- A house is more spacious, with many rooms. Usually there are two bedrooms, some rooms and rooms for children, a big living-room, a kitchen with a junk - room, two bathrooms and of course an attic. In the house, there can be as well cellar, as there is surely a garden outside, so there is a place where to store the vegetables and fruits from it. Some big houses have a laundry. Nowadays, nearly everyone has a car so there is certainly a garage by the house. The problem is that it is very difficult to own a house. The easier way of getting a house is to win a lottery or inherit after a rich relative who had a lot of money or a big nice house.

LIVING ROOM

BEDROOM

THE children's room

BATHROOM

CONTENTS

- I live in a flat in Shimkent. There are three rooms in my flat. They are: a living-room, a bedroom and a children's room. There is a kitchen, a bathroom and a toilet in my flat.

Our living-room is the largest room in my flat. It is a large nice room. There is a big window in it. There is a table in the middle of the room, twelve chairs. There is a TV in the corner and two arm-chairs, a sofa and a cupboard in the living-room.

I have my own room. It is small. There is no much furniture there. My room is not quite light, because it has one window. You can see a small desk at the window. The bookcase is on the right. I like my room very much. When my friends come to see me, I invite them into my room.

Our bedroom is the smallest room in my flat. This is room a very comfortable, cosy.

I like my flat very-very much.

The materials are taken the text books :
K. Janabaeva