Tell us about yourself:

- I live in Buinsk. At the moment I study in Kazan. In the Volga State Academy of Physical Culture, Sports and Tourism. Engaged in volleyball. And anyway, I love sports, I also engaged in athletics, gymnastics, swimming. But the biggest that I love this horse riding. Thanks to the equestrian and horse, I became more responsible and cheerful. I have found very good friends, I have my favorite horse. She Arabian breed. And I constantly stress when I know from friends that it is not that to. To lame, the bad breath. Every week I try to go to it, and sometimes had to miss school, but I'm fine, and I try to take all the debts on time. Who collects the money on her treatment, she was a little sick, become thin. I studied Buinsk, school number one, traveled constantly to the competition, it's the best result I had to Russia. equestrian, I took 5th place in Russia with my an Arab. And I'm very happy.

My presentation is dedicated to the attractions of the city of Kazan.

- Kazan is one of the largest cultural centers of Russia, retaining classical achievements, as well as contributing to the development of modern, avant-garde trends in many areas of culture. Capital of Tatarstan is traditionally called "multicultural", meaning mutually enriching peacefully coexisting Russian and Tatar cultures. With the support of UNESCO in Kazan was created the world's first Institute for the Culture of Peace.

Kul Sharif

- In my opinion the most important attraction of Kazan is the Kul Sharif mosque. Kul Sharif is located in the western part of the Kazan Kremlin and is a symmetrical composition with accommodation in the center of the courtyard of the building of the mosque, and on the sides of two pavilions for the spatial alignment of the former cadet school and mosque complex in order to give place objects urban significance and enrich the panorama of the Kremlin.

The inner space of the mosque is designed for a half thousand people on the square in front of it can accommodate ten thousand more.

Suyumbike tower

Suyumbike tower also refers to the "falling" towers (such as the Leaning Tower of Pisa), since it has a significant slope in the north-east. At the moment, its spire deviation from the vertical is 1.98 m.

Soltan Mosque

- The mosque was built in 1868 on the merchant Dzhiganshi Usmanov. In 1931, the mosque was closed by the Soviet authorities. The Council of Ministers of the Tatar ASSR number 601 on 01/23/1981 building of the mosque was placed under state protection as a monument of architecture. In 1990, the minaret was restored in 1994, the mosque was returned to believers.

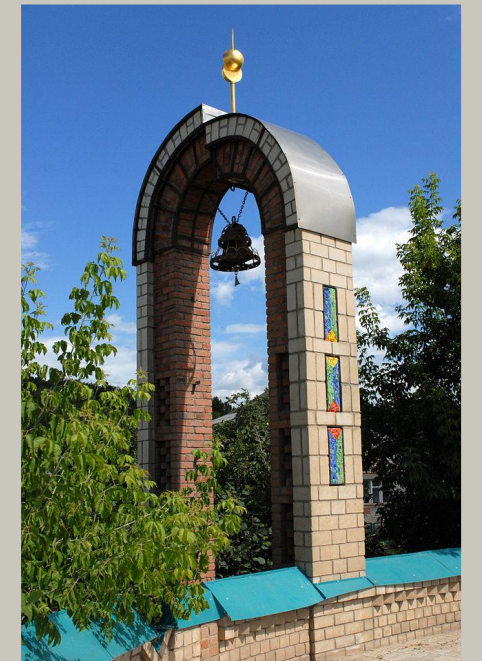

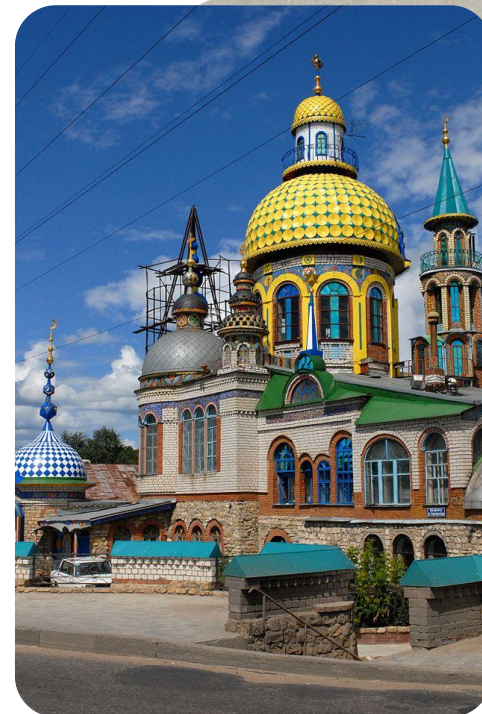

Temple of all religions

Temple of all religions, and the Ecumenical Temple, International Cultural Center of spiritual unity - architectural structure in the village of Old Arakchino in Kazan, the construction of which began in 1994 with the artist, architect, sculptor, healer and philanthropist Ildar khans. According to the author and owner of the complex, he erected as an architectural symbol of religions, cultures and civilizations. Services and ceremonies in the complex are not held.

In the ensemble coexist Orthodox Church, the Muslim mosque, a Jewish synagogue, a pagoda. Total project includes the dome and other symbolic elements of religious buildings 16 world religions, including lost civilizations.
