- In Essentuki, in Frunze Street, you can see the beautiful monument near a small house. In this dwelling a Russian writer, novelist, poet and journalist - Andrew Terentevich Gubin lived.

- He was born in 1927 in the stanitsa of Essentukskaya, to a family of Cossacks. His Father- Terence A. Gubin, and the mother -Maria V. Gubin (maden name Tristan).

- His childhood was during the war and it wasn't easy for him. He started working at 15. He changed a lot of professions, was a herdsman, blacksmith, fireman, stoker on a steam train, a ship machinist first class, a longshoreman.

- Also he lived in Moscow, working as a stoker in the hotel "Europe" at night. He spent his days reading books in the Lenin's library.

- For the first time he began to publish his works in 1951 in the local newspaper "Iskra". He also worked as a journalist and proofreader.

In 1953 he enrolled in the screenwriting department RSUC (Russian State University of Cinematography).

He graduated from it in 1959 with the qualification of the playwright. After that he was engaged only in literary activities. In 1969 he was admitted to the Union of Soviet Writers.

- The last years of his life the writer spent in Moscow. He died on 6 of March in 1992. He was buried in Essentuki. In 1995 he became (posthumously) the winner of the literary Sholokhov award.

- There is an exposition dedicated to the writer in Essentuki regional museum . His wife - Gubin Margarita Nikolaevna gave exhibits for it. She was a journalist.

- After the death of Andrei Gubin his wife set a goal - to publish unreleased writer's books. She founded and headed the publishing house "Wolf's Milk." Unfortunately, her tragic death didn't allow to continue publishing work.

- Andrei Gubin's Creativity inextricably linked to Stavropol. During his life writer lived in Moscow, the Baltic States, Central Asia, the Far East, but Stavropol kray always remained his "home land."

- The first poetry publication was in the newspaper "Iskra", where he continued to publish his works in the next few years.

- And in 1968, with the assistance of Vsevolod Kochetov, the main work of Andrei Gubin was published in October - the novel "Wolf milk."

- Andrew Terentevich worked on his novel for 20 years. The story is spanned for more than a century of life of the Terek Cossacks. The language of the novel is very original and poetic.

- . The novel was translated into German and published in Berlin World Literature Publishing House in 1971.
