

A large sand sculpture of a man's face, possibly a deity or a historical figure, with a snake coiled around his mouth. The sculpture is made of light-colored sand and is set against a dark background. The man has a large, rounded head, a prominent nose, and a wide, open mouth. The snake is intricately detailed, with its head and body visible. The overall scene is dramatic and artistic.

Festival of sand sculpture Weston-Super-Mare

Where?
When?
What?
How much?

What?

An amazing display of sand sculpture on the theme of “The 7 Continents”

Where?

Weston-Super-Mare

When?

From 12 July to 31 August

How much?

£ 3/1,5

gold silver bronze ice sand stone wooden woolly

The Turner Prize

The lights going on and off by Martin
Creed

Shedboatshed
by Simon
Starling

Mother and Child divided by Damien
Hirst

