

Guess the character

from «Pride and Prejudice», 1995

A decorative border of intricate, symmetrical floral and scrollwork patterns in shades of gray, framing the central text. The border features a central floral motif at the top and bottom, with smaller scrollwork elements on the sides and bottom.

A good-looking
23-years-old at the beginning of the novel.
He had a pleasant
countenance, and easy, unaffected manners.

A decorative border with intricate floral and scrollwork patterns surrounds the text. The border is composed of repeating scroll motifs and larger floral designs at the corners and midpoints.

He inherited property to the amount of nearly a hundred thousand pounds from his father, who had intended to purchase an estate, but did not live to do it.

Mr. Bingley

- ❖ She was the middle-aged wife of her socially superior husband
 - ❖ HER mind was difficult to develop. She was a woman of mean understanding, little information, and uncertain temper. The business of her life was to get her daughters married.

Mrs.
Bennet

- ❖ She is Elizabeth's friend, 27 years old
 - ❖ She is afraid to become a burden to her family and therefore agrees to marry to gain financial security.

Charlotte Collins (née Lucas)

While being handsome, tall, and intelligent, he lacked the ease and social graces that came so naturally to his closest friend

A newcomer to the village, he was ultimately Elizabeth Bennet's love interest. He was the 28 year old wealthy owner of the renowned family estate of Pemberley in Derbyshire.

Mr. Darcy

A decorative border surrounds the text, featuring a stone path that curves across the top and bottom. The path is flanked by various flowers, including roses and tulips, rendered in a detailed, engraved style.

❖ She was a stout, well-grown girl of fifteen, with a fine complexion and good-humoured countenance; a favourite with her mother, whose affection had brought her into public at an early age.

❖ She had a sort of natural self-consequence, which the attention of the officers, to whom her uncle's good dinners, and her own easy manners recommended her, had increased into assurance.

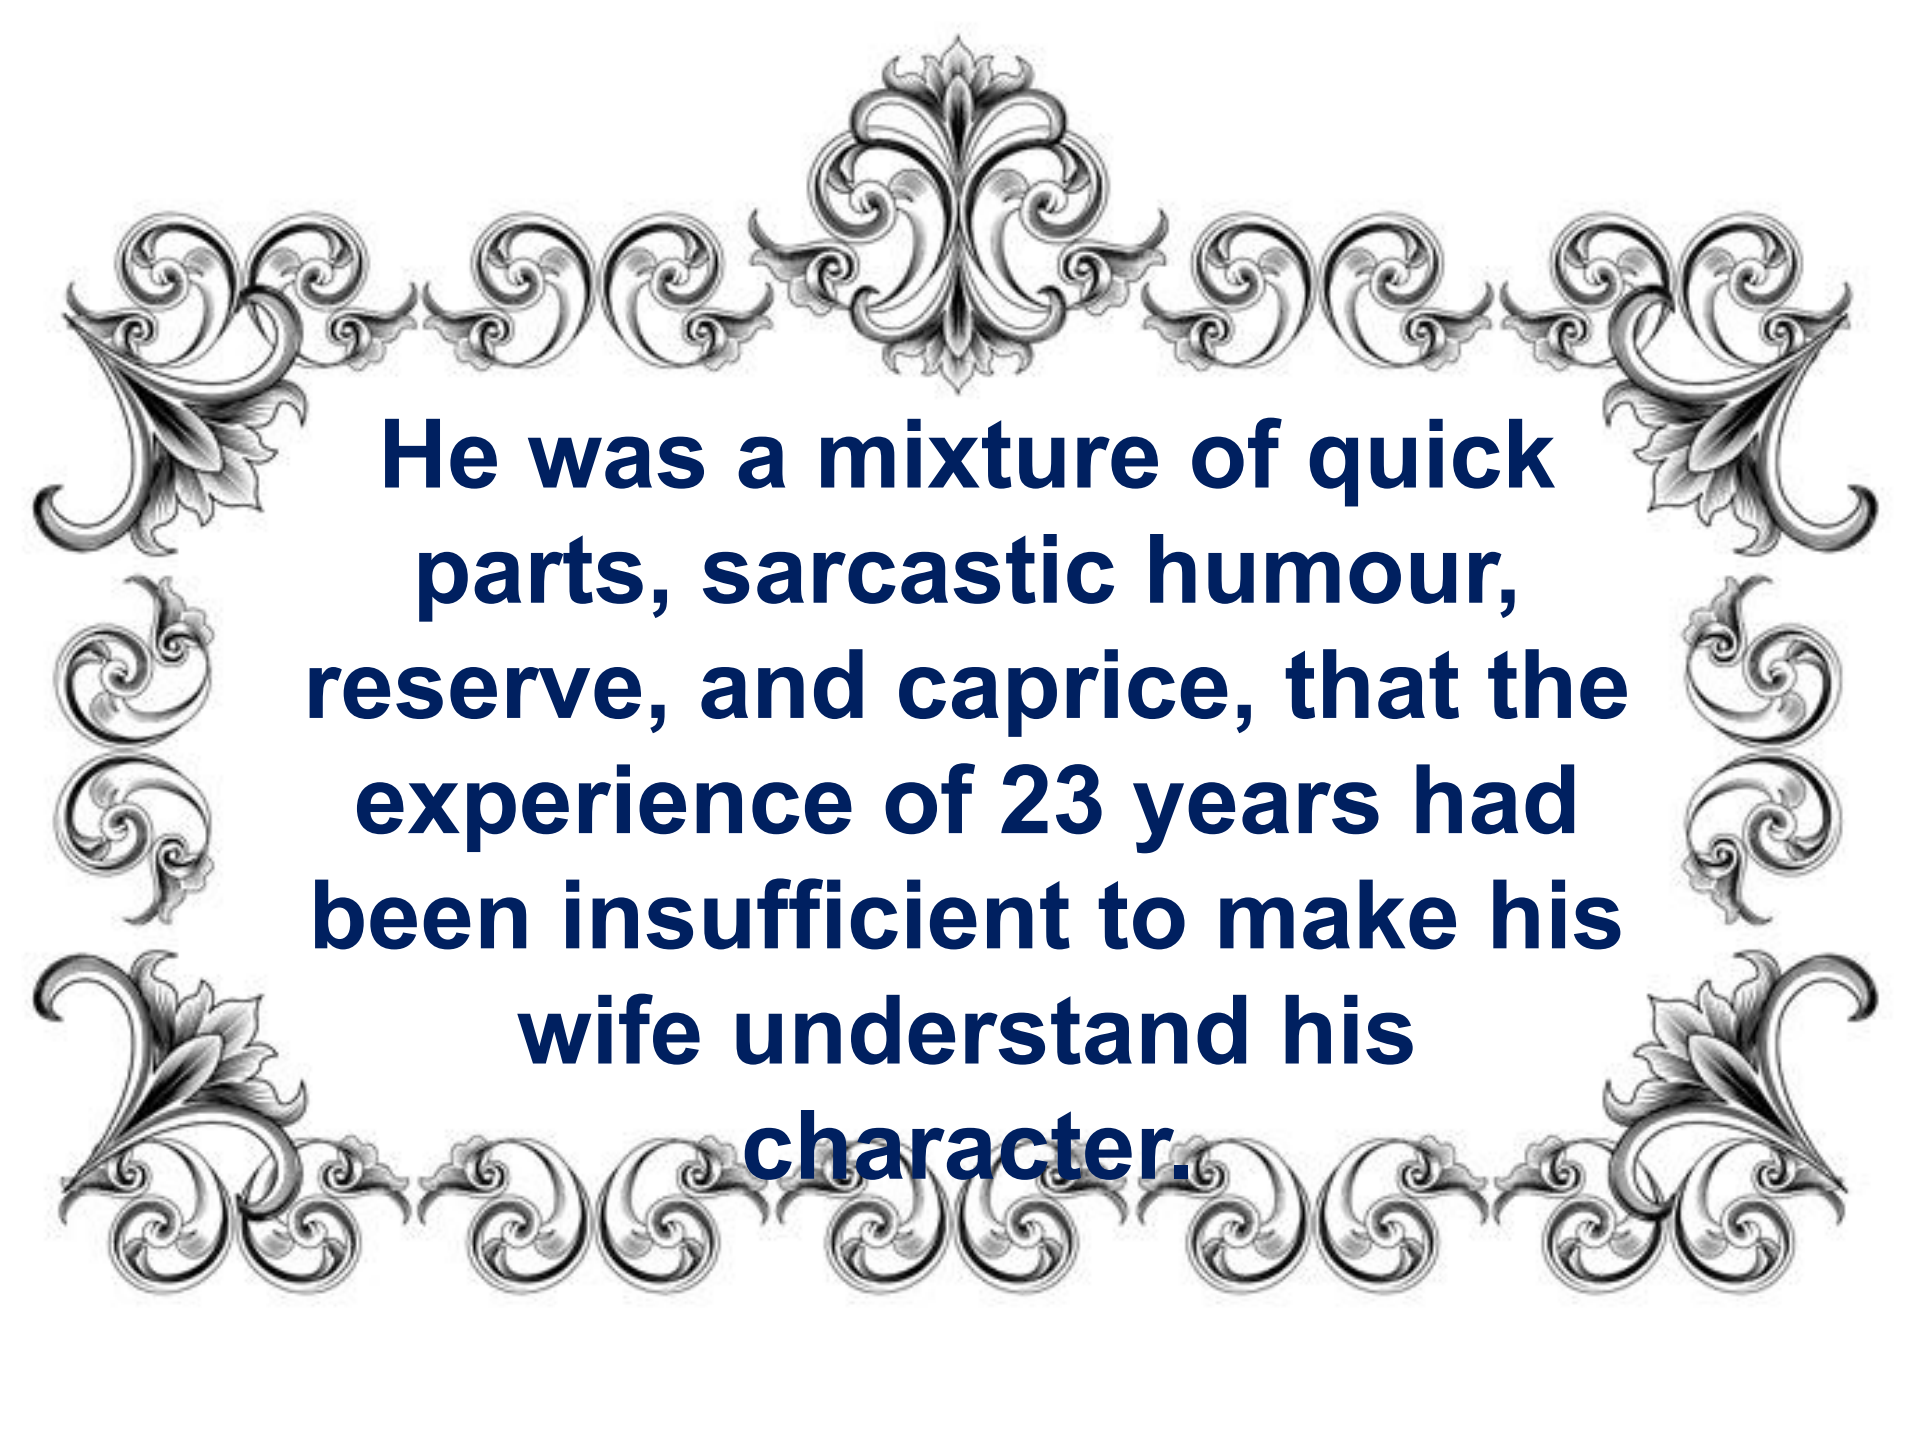

◆ She ran off with George Wickham, although he did not intend to marry her.

Wickham
(nee Bennet)*

A decorative border with intricate floral and scrollwork patterns in a light gray color, framing the central text. The border consists of repeating scroll motifs and larger floral designs at the corners and midpoints.

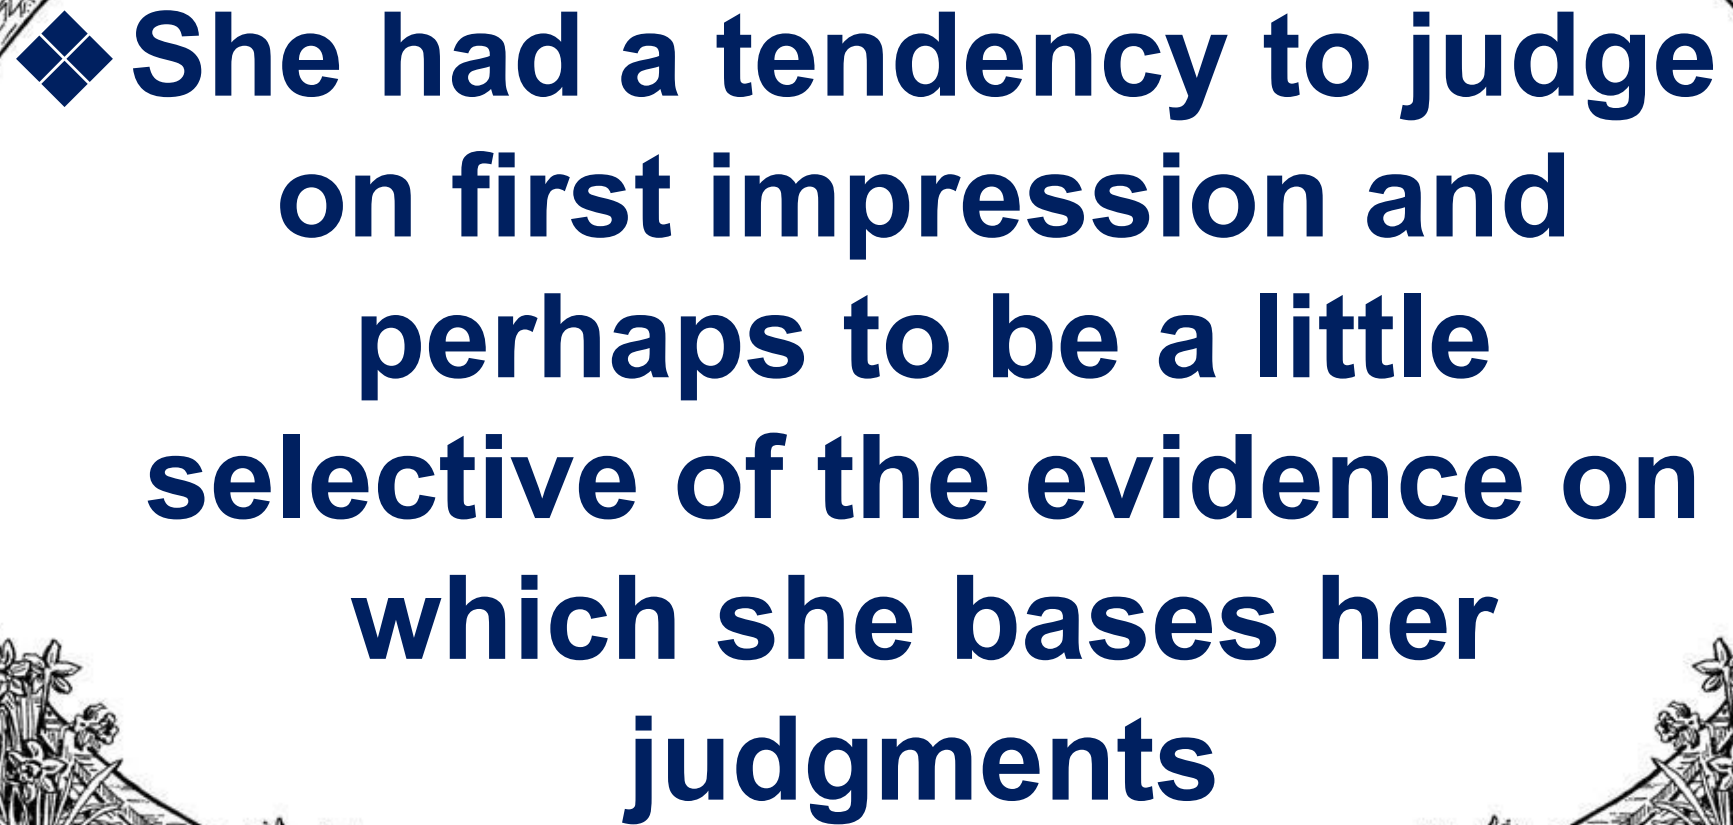

He was a mixture of quick parts, sarcastic humour, reserve, and caprice, that the experience of 23 years had been insufficient to make his wife understand his character.

He was a late middle aged gentleman with five unmarried daughters (at the beginning of the story)

Mr Bennet

❖ She had a tendency to judge on first impression and perhaps to be a little selective of the evidence on which she bases her judgments

◆ The second of the Bennet daughters, she was twenty years old and is intelligent, lively, playful, attractive, and witty

*Elizabeth

A decorative border with intricate floral and scrollwork patterns, featuring a central floral motif at the top and bottom, and smaller scrollwork elements on the sides.

Aged 25, he is Mr.
Bennet's distant,
clergyman cousin. If Mr.
Bennet died, he would inherited all his property.

Mrs. Bennet wanted one of her daughters to marry him. Elizabeth was proposed, but she refused immediately. Eventually he married Charlotte

Mr Collins

❖ Her character was contrasted with her younger sister's as sweeter, shyer, and equally sensible, but not as clever; her most notable trait was a desire to see only the good in others.

- ❖ She was the eldest Bennet sister, 22 years old when the story
 - ❖ She fell in love with Charles Bingley

Jane Bennet
