Chapter II

Monuments in Pyatigorsk

Our city may be proud of the history of our city. It has a lot of historical places and monuments to well-known people.

The first monument to our famous poet M. Lermontov was set up in our town. It was set on the 16 of August 1898. Nowadays there are concerts, festivals dedicated to M. Lermontov at the monument.

When you come to our city by train, you'll see the monument to S.M. Kirov. He was the famous revolutionary and did a lot for our city. The first monument was set up in 1940 on the square at the railway station. The second monument was set in 1959.

If you walk along Kirov street, you'll see the monument to another revolutionary G. Andjievsky.

G. Andjievsky was the Chairman of the Soviet deputies in Pyatigorsk. The first monument was set up at the fountain "Dwarfs" in the square on the 7th of November 1925. That square was called Andjievsky. By 1934 the monument became very dilapidated. The new monument was set up in 1936 in Pushkin square. Then that square was renamed into Andjievsky square.

On Kirov street there is a monument to Nina Poptsova. She fought against fascists. She did a lot for liberation of our city. The monument to N. Poptsova was set up in 1961, sculptor M.G. Minkin.

Lieutenant- General P.M. Koslov took part in the liberation of our city from fascists. His monument is on the central square of Goryachevodsk. It was set up in 1957.

Yuri Gagarin was the first cosmonaut in our country and all over the world. There is an obelisk to this famous person. It was set up near the former cinema "Kosmos" in 1969. The sculptor E. N. Rukavishnikov made the obelisk and presented it to the city.

Near the Scientific Research Institute of Health Resort there is a monument to the great Russian poet A.S. Pushkin. It was a gift of the sculptor Anikushin to our city. It was set up in 1982. On the ceremony there were 70 poets from 15 soviet republics and abroad.

In park “Flower Garden” near the central drinking gallery there is a monument to Cossack Mother. It was set up on the 26th of September 2015. The author of this project is Ravil Yussupov. Mother and children see their father to war. According to the idea of the author the Cossack family is the base of strength of spirit and traditional bringing up.

Not far from tram stop “Dzerzhinskaya Street” in the small beautiful square there is a monument to L.N. Tolstoy. The monument was set up in 2005 and it is dedicated to the 225th anniversary of our city. The author of the monument is the citizen of Lermontov Svetlana Avakova.

The monument to Osset poet Kosta Hetagurov was set up on November 25, 2009. It is situated not far from the main city square. The sculptor is George Sabeev. The Rector of the Institute of Economy and Management V.Vazagov and P. Kussov the director of Pyatigorsk Electricity Department suggested to establish this monument. The Osset community supported this idea.

The monument to Anna Tsalikova. It is on her grave. She was a teacher. K. Hetagurov loved her and dedicated her a lot of poems and letters. He also made her portrait. In 1915 sculptor V.V. Kozlov designed a monument to Anna Tsalikova. On the monument we can see a desk, a blackboard and a teacher with pupils.

Not far from the memorial “The Eternal Fire” there is a monument to general A.P. Yermolov. It was set up on September 11, 2010. The sculptor is Ravil Yussupov.

Enjoying wonderful views from the top of Mashuk you can't but noticing the monument to A.V. Pastukhov, the famous explorer of the North Caucasus. It is on the southern slope of Mashuk. Not tall obelisk with a cross and a bas-relief looked to the East according to the orthodox tradition. It was made by the well-known sculptor Andreoletti and his sons in Tifliss. Nowadays it looks to the South. The original bas-relief was lost and the new one was made by the sculptor M.G. Minkin.
