READING

Carres of Joe Ks

Different people have different reading habits. Same people read for pleasure and fun. They choose books according to their tastes and interests. Many people in the modern world read for information. They find facts in the books or with the help of modern telecommunication system and Internet.

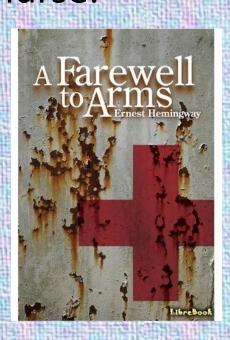

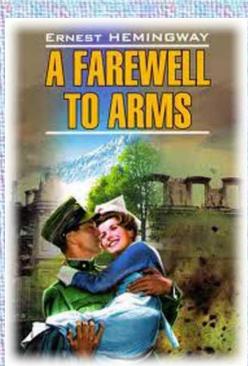

My hobby is reading. I have recently started reading the book «Farewell to Arms» by Ernest Hemingway. It is about the war against the fascists. A young American officer was wounded and was sent to hospital. Certainly, he fell in love with a beautiful nurse.

It is a great book about sincere human feelings, love and desire to live. I strongly advise you read this book, because the book teaches us to respect people and peoples feelings. I think that reading helps people to discover more colures of the world, it teaches us to express our thoughts and feelings.
