

Politics: Science or Art

made by a student of the Faculty of Sociology and Politology,
group P1-3
Chumakov
Alexander

Moscow 2017

Contents

- the history of politics;
- different views on politics
- arguments for scientific view;
- arguments for art view;
- intersection of politology and politics;
- Conclusion;

The History of Politics

- appeared long time ago;
- was the privilege of some powerful persons;
- appeared as the natural phenomenon;

Different Views on Politics

THE FIRST ONE

Politics is science

THE SECOND ONE

Politics is art

Arguments for Scientific View

- deals with the description, prediction and analysis of different political phenomena;
- helps us to understand the global political world;
- construct theories, explanations and ideas;

Arguments for Art View

- is the process of creation
- deals with human creative;

Intersection of Politics and Politology

- 1. Politology prepares the basis for politics.
- 2. Politics gives politology new ideas to form new theories

Conclusion

Although, there are lots of definitions of what politics is, I strongly believe that this is art, activity, the most important activity in the world which determiners our life.

Sources

- Wikipedia
- textbook of political science by Plyais Y.A.
- the dictionary

Contacts

E-mail: sashka_chumakov@mail.ru