
GLASSES

SAPARMURAT
AYAZHAN

GLASSES

HISTORY OF GLASSES

With lens technology and accurate prescriptions becoming ever more affordable during the 1800s, the 1900s saw a trend toward making glasses fashionable and stylish. Frames with different shapes, materials, and colors became available for those who wanted glasses to match their face shape, eye color, or outfit.

For example, Theodore Roosevelt wore pince-nez spectacles, which had no earpieces, but instead stayed in place with a nose clip. These glasses were quite popular earlier in the century, but fell out of fashion as they became associated with older generations.

BEFORE & AFTER

1920

BEFORE

2015

AFTER

European glasses
Asian glasses
American glasses

DIFFERENCE

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=xWQXqhLjD5s>

ABOUT GLASSES:

IN FILMS

Frequently, your initial font
choice is taken out

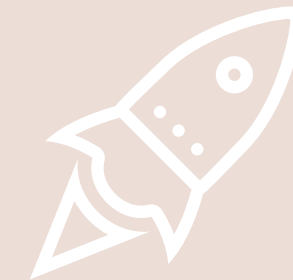

POPULARITY

Frequently, your initial font
choice is taken out

FUNCTION

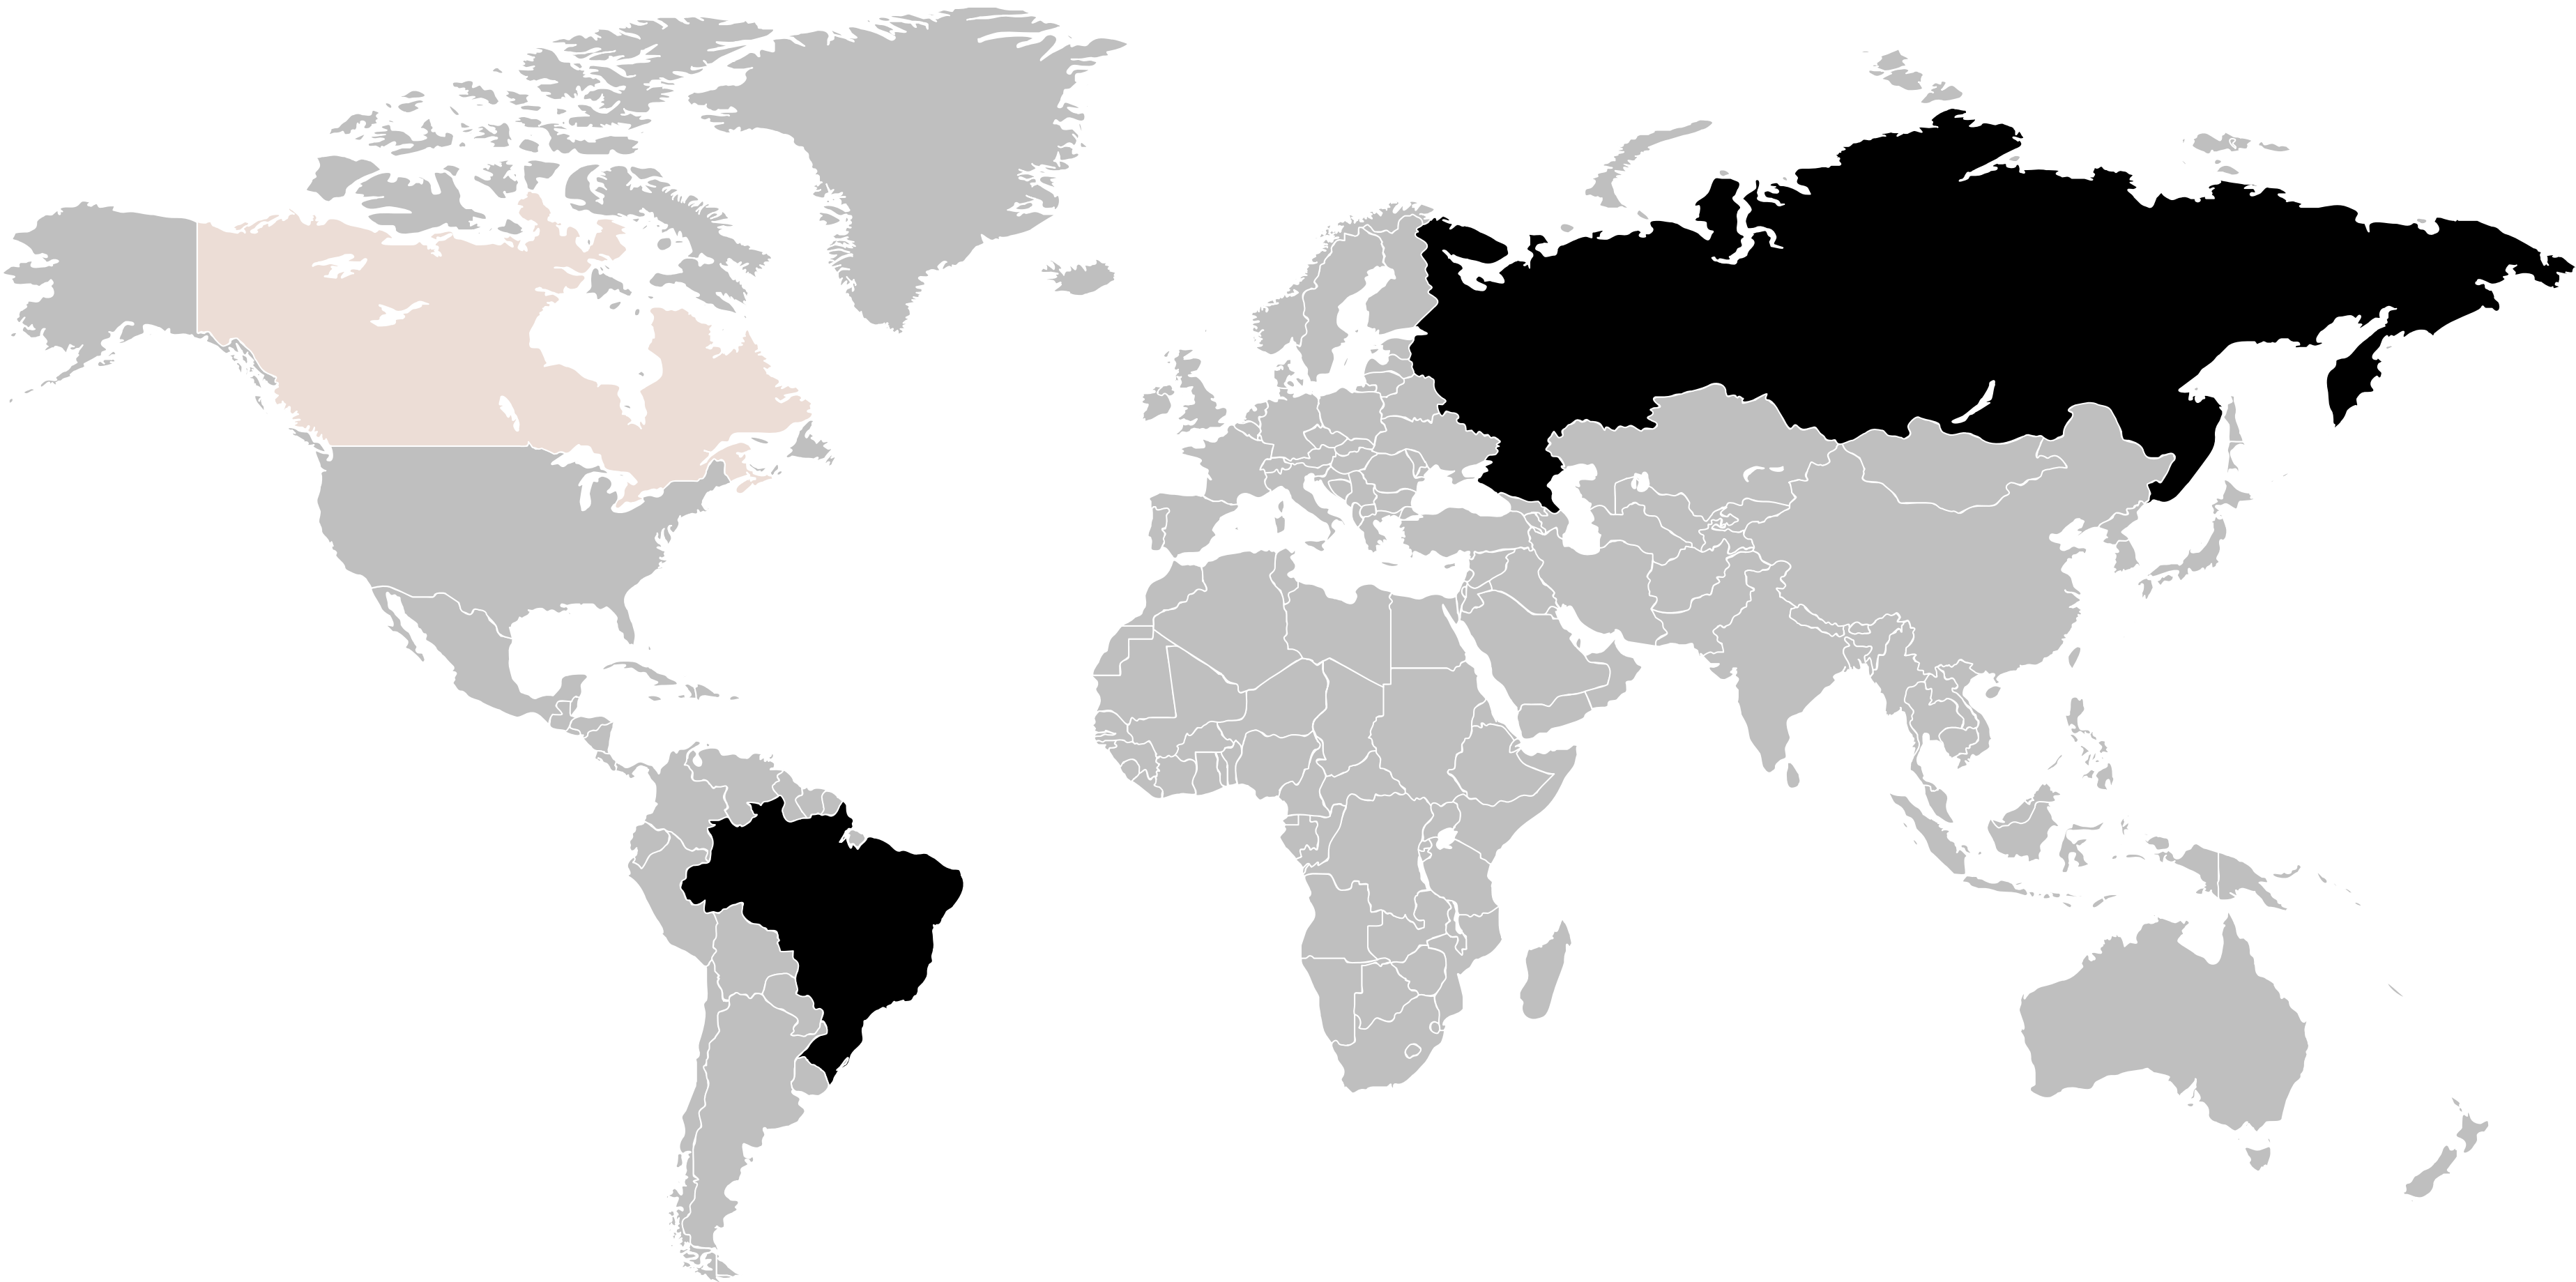

Frequently, your initial font
choice is taken out

OTHER

Frequently, your initial font
choice is taken out

World Map

THAT'S ALL

WARMEST REGARDS