A map of the Moscow region showing a route from the Moscow Central Circle (MCA) to the Ruza district. The route is marked with a thick black line, starting from the MCA (marked with a red 'A') near Mozhaysk and heading west through the towns of Vlasikha, Odintsovo, and Rublyovo, then through the towns of Chasцы, Goлицыно, and Большие Вязёмы, and finally ending near the town of Дорохово in the Ruza district (marked with a red 'B'). The map shows various roads, including highways A-106, A-107, and M-9, and several districts like Красногорск, Звенигород, and Наро-Фоминск. The text '70 км от МКАД' is overlaid in large white letters across the center of the map.

An aerial photograph of a resort complex. The main building is a large, multi-story structure with a prominent glass-enclosed section. It is surrounded by several smaller, two-story buildings with gabled roofs and large windows. The resort is set in a lush, green environment with many trees and a central courtyard area. The lighting suggests a bright, sunny day.
