

PRESENT
PERFECT TENSE

When can something happen?

Past meets present?!

It's six o'clock in the morning and the sun....

It's 7 o'clock now and the sun..

...has JUST risen.

Consequences / result

Homework?

The smart boy HAS JUST FINISHED his homework.

Present Perfect Tense

- tense used to describe actions that started in the past (started doing homework) and has just finished with consequences on the present (finished homework).

PAST ACTION + PRESENT RESULT =
PRESENT PERFECT

PRESENT PERFECT TENSE

The sun has just risen.

The smart boy has just finished his homework.

The parents have just eaten.

- This tense is formed :

HAVE/HAS + PAST PARTICIPLE

present

past

PAST PARTICIPLE

play +ed= played

climb +ed=climbed be=been

know=known

take=taken

It is formed by adding -ED to regular verbs or we use 3rd column of the irregular verbs.

PRESENT PERFECT TENSE

Complete the sentences:

1. Anna just (enter) the house.
2. Mary and Jim just (finish) their lunch.
3. I just (hear) some great news.
4. Students just (do) their tests.

PRESENT PERFECT TENSE

This tense links _____ .

We use this tense for action that started in the _____ and has just _____.

We make this tense: _____ + _____.

Past Participle is formed by adding _____ on the regular verbs or we use the _____ column of the irregular verbs.

PRESENT PERFECT TENSE

THE END