

Landmarks in Northern Ireland

Northern Ireland's famous attractions include the Mourne Mountains and the Walled City of Derry.

The mountains, and the surrounding area offers great outdoor activities such as rock climbing, snowboarding, horse riding, fishing and golf.

The Walled City of Derry on the other hand, is one of the few retained walled cities in Europe. It was built as defences. Today the Walled City is one of great sights to see.

Saint Patrick's Church in Saul, County Down

It was built to commemorate the 1500th anniversary of Saint Patrick's mission. It is a small church. The bell tower is in the classical shape of an Irish round tower. The church is simple. A small stained-glass window picturing Patrick himself is the only decoration. It is the first Christian church in Ireland.

The Fermanagh Lake lands, and the Giant's Causeway and Coastal Route are also other major attractions in Northern Ireland.

There are many other things to enjoy in Northern Ireland such as the shopping, entertainment, night life and nature activities.
