Ozzy Osbourne (John Michael Osbourne) is a famous musician, people often call him “Father of heavy metal”, although he was not an inventor of this style. He is loved all over the world as a frontman of “Black Sabbath” and for solo works.

An image of the cross became a well-known symbol of “Black Sabbath”. The name of the group sounds like something dark and devilish, but it hasn’t any relations with the Satanism. The choice of it was just a case.

Features and Characterizations

- Eyes and Eyebrows
- Mouth and Lips
- Nose and Ears
- Forehead and Chin

Eyes and Eyebrows

Black, soft, straight eyebrows mean a kind man.

If person has a little swelled up eyelids it means that he is lazy enough, sometimes passive, but, on the other hand, observant and tender. It's true, because a lot of people say that Ozzy is very caring and calm at home. Not large eyes show the constancy, stubbornness and self-satisfaction.

Hazel eyes reside people with vigorous energy.

Mouth and Lips

Horizontal, regularly shaped lips symbolize kindness, sincere, cheerfulness. Person with such form of lips tend to be open-hearted.

People with large mouth are usually daring, manly, excessive in everything, sarcastic.

Nose and Ears

Ozzy's ears are big enough, with strongly pronounced crooks of auricles. According to the common opinion, it says about talent to music.

Wide nose with little socket represents active and energetic man, who, however, can be proud, insolent and talkative at times.

Forehead and Chin

Good sense and honesty are connected to the horizontal, parallel and hardly noticeable wrinkles.

Protrusive chin points to such strains as energy, will-power, nobleness, stubbornness and, rarely, cruelty.

Ozzy Osbourne about himself

“When I left the school I wanted to be a plumber; when I listened The Beatles I wanted to be a “Beatle””.

“When somebody tells me what to do, I deed quite the contrary. Even if a minute ago I intended to go the way I’m told...”
