

I have fond childhood drawing and always liked to create something new and transform it into reality. Such as forgery of wood or other materials.

- And now I like to do drawing work. I think this is a very exciting experience. Even if you have lost a particular item which you did the drawing, we can according drawing to make the same item that you lost

- The building belongs to the most ancient types of human activity, and that means that many thousands of years ago laid the basis of the further development of architecture. Individual buildings and their ensembles, squares and avenues, parks and stadiums, settlements and entire cities - their beauty is able to cause the audience certain feelings and moods. That's what makes architecture an Art - the art of creating buildings and structures according to the laws of beauty.

- Unfortunately, at the moment, architects are not as popular as it is now, so you should try to be better than others.
- And now the most interesting. What do they get paid? So Moscow architects earn an average of 80 thousand rubles per 1 drawing. And this is not the limit! There are those, who are looking for work, but less than 200 thousand rubles to each drawing.

- SO I THINK THIS IS A VERY INTERESTING PROFESSION AND ALSO SUGGEST YOU AND YOUR CHILDREN TO LEARN TO BE AN ARCHITECT

- I also want to get a second job gamer.

ESports – what it is?

- Computer games became not just a hobby, but a profession. All I know about this sport, how eSports. That is not just entertainment, is also understood by many. E-sport is very similar to the familiar every person, only the competition takes place on the playing field involving computer technology: all kinds of consoles and personal computers.

ESports – what it means in Russia?

- Even in Russia not so is developed the sport as, say, in America or Europe, but here too there are the teams and their tournaments. It all began with the opening of the Moscow computer club "Orcs", a favourite place of the future elite. It was here that originated the first Russian E-athletes. They gained experience and fought among themselves. As a result, they began to form new teams eSports, clans of players. All this, of course, was only on a primitive level. The win in the first editions of progamers was meager and served, except that a symbolic prize.

- Yes I know what you think as about me and about my ideas. Such as "It's just a game as it can you earn?" or "Why are you doing that you're not qualified!" or "It's all a complete divorce!". Yes, I heard it in my life many times and I was told in my whole life. And you really think that experienced players are different from us, or helped them managers? Nothing of the sort! They were the same as me. ESports like other profession requires experience. And to gain experience, as you know, you need to work hard and have the desire

- So before you tell the child "Better be studying!" and "Come on already your toys!", think about whether you do, whether you need it to do? Who knows, maybe he sees his future is better than you and will be able to realize his dream into reality. First, and this should help you because you're parents to push their child to success.
