Teenagers' society problems

Every society has lots of common ways and problems.

Teenagers' society isn't different?

Youth is the time when a person is trying to find his place in the world.

And during this search he or she comes across different problems which are as important as those of adults.

We are people of 21st century and we can know what teenagers' life was like in the past only from tales of our parents and grandparents.

Of course, there are a lot of differences between 21st and past lives. But there are a lot of similarities, too.

One of them is a generation gap'.

This problem has been worrying lots of people for a long time.

Even one of the most famous Russian writers – Ivan Turgenev wrote the novel based on this problem. It's titled 'Fathers and Children'.

The problem of 'generation gap' is focused on relationships between adults and young people.

Adults can't understand children. They live different lives. They don't find children's problems as important as adult's problems.

Some people don't respect children's feelings.

Besides, lots of children are in danger of Mass Media. They are under the influence of TV-programmers, the Internet, and it makes them unkind, stupid and with low morality.

It's true that there is a lot of violence, sex, drugs and alcohol, lots of examples of unusual behavior etc. People have to fight back against bad influence of Mass Media.

Teenagers are the future of human nation and it must be clever, kind and with clear mind. But for that, adults must concentrate all their attention on their children.

They have to think about children,
help them in their personal problems,
discuss with them difficult life situations, control their life, influence of the environment.

Instead of stupid computer games
with murders and blood,

adults must offer children a big variety of activities: developing educational programmers, sport, books, dog-walking, spending time with parents or in a family circle etc.

If adults take care about children, our world will develop together with its future generation, be more beautiful and interesting.
