Conversation 1:

Waleed: Martin, does your son play football?

Martin: He is not in the team. I don't want him to play football. He is too small.

Waleed: He isn't very small. He's tall.

Martin: But he's too thin.

Conversation 2:

Martin: What does he look like?

Waleed: He's not very tall.

Martin: What color is his hair?

Waleed: I can't see the hair. He has a cap on.

Martin: Which girl is talking to Alan?

Eileen: The tall one.

Martin: Does she have black hair?

Eileen: Yes.

Martin: She is a girl in Alan's school.

Eileen: She's very pretty.

Sue: She's beautiful. I want black hair.

Eileen: Your hair is very pretty.

Martin: Yes, your hair is nice.

Look at this girl. She is rather tall. Her hair is fair. It is long, thick and plated. Her face is oval. She has big blue eyes and thick long eyelashes. Her eyebrows are dark and penciled, her nose is straight, her lips are rather thin. When she smiles we can see her white teeth and a dimple in her left cheek.

Look at this girl. She is a schoolgirl. She is ten, but she looks older than she is. She looks like her mother. She has rather small features, a snub nose and fair complexion. She wears short hair. It is chestnut. Her eyes are blue. She has a very pleasant smile. When she smiles, two very pretty dimples appear in her rosy cheeks.

He is an old man. His face is square. His forehead and cheeks are wrinkled. He has clever hazel eyes, overhung by bushy eyebrows. His eyes are rather small and deep-set. His nose is long. His lips aren't thin. They are full. We can't see his chin, as it's covered with a long beard. His beard and moustache are dark while his hair is grey. He has so little hair that we can say that he is bold.

- Hello! Can you help me?
- What can I do for you?
- You see, my cousin comes today and I've promised to meet her at the station, but I have an exam today
- Don't worry. How old is your cousin?
- She is 16. she goes to school.
- Is she tall?
- Not very. She is of medium height.
- Is she dark or fair?
- Her hair is fair but she has dark eyes and eyebrows.
- Does she look like your mother?
- Not quite. She resembles our grandmother with her straight nose and fair complexion.
- I see. Your cousin is very good looking.
- Oh, yes. She is a beauty.
- I'll find her in the crowd, especially if you tell me her name and the number of her carriage.

Ее мать невысокого роста, полная, с темными волосами и серыми глазами. Дочь совсем на нее не похожа. Она высокая блондинка, очень стройная, с большими карими глазами, темными бровями и ресницами. У нее большой но красивый рот, прямой нос и прекрасный цвет лица.

Мой сосед – высокий худой мужчина лет пятидесяти. Его лицо не очень привлекательно. У него крупный нос, небольшие темные глаза, тонкие губы. Но когда он говорит или улыбается, его лицо сразу же становится очень интересным.

Это была пожилая (elderly) леди лет 60, с седыми волосами, довольно полная, но все еще красивая.

Девочка была прелестна с ее круглым личиком, ярко-зелеными глазами и вздернутым носиком. Ее темные волосы были заплетены в косы

Петя – маленький мальчик. Ему два года. Он маленького роста и толстенький. Он похож на своего отца. Лицо у Пети круглое и в веснушках. У него густые, кудрявые каштановые волосы, а нос маленький. Мне нравятся его большие серые глаза и белые зубы. У него полные губы и пухлые розовые щеки. Я думаю, он умный мальчик, так как у него широкий и высокий лоб.

Liza: Hi, John. Have you been waiting long? Excuse me, please. I'm late.

John: It's all right. You're here now, and I'm very glad to see you.

Liza: Look here, John. Helen's just called me. She's coming by the 8.30 train. But I have a meeting at 8. Please do me a favour and meet her at the station.

John: ...Er. Liza, I'll do it with pleasure, but I've never seen Helen. How can I recognize her?

Liza: John, don't worry, it's not so difficult as you imagine. She's the exact copy of Lucie. They're the twin-sisters. Do you remember Lucie? Lucie Bradley? Eh?

John: ...um. I'm afraid I don't. Who is Lucie Bradley? What does she look like?

Liza: It's so strange that you don't remember Lucie. We met her the other day at the Smiths' party. She was with Tom.

John: Oh! I remember her! She's a tall slim girl with a turned-up nose, beautiful blue eyes, curly golden hair and long shapely legs. Also she has rosy cheeks, perfectly shaped full lips and long curly lashes. She seems a bit silly but she's so merry. Is her sister as cheerful as Lucie? Yeah! She's pretty enough, isn't she? I'll meet her sister at the station. If they're so much alike...

Liza: Great! I see. You do remember her. As for me she's not slim, she's bony. Her rosy complexion, well-shaped lips, long lashes and beautiful eyes are the tricks of her expensive French make-up. Her eyes are rather small and close-set. She has straight faded hair and her forehead is low and narrow. Her legs seem so long and shapely because of the high heels! In fact her legs are slightly bandy. Besides she's not silly, she's tremendously dull! Well, John. I'll better meet Helen myself.

John: But why, Liza?

Liza: Perhaps because she's a tall long-legged blondie with blue naive eyes and not a short crooked old man with a bushy beard, false teeth and a squeaky wooden leg!

John: Are you so jealous? Well, do it yourself. And what about your meeting? As far as I remember you are going somewhere.

Liza: I suppose it's not very important. I can easily cancel it.

John: Then do as you wish. And would you mind my going to the station with you?

Liza: No, no. Thanks a lot.

John: Sure? Well... (murmuring to himself). It's just what I want. I'd better stay home on my sofa and watch a football match on TV...
