

Responsibility for violation of legislation in the field of science

Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan “About Science”

This Law regulates social relations in the field of science and scientific and technical activities, determines the rights and duties of subjects of scientific and scientific and technical sphere.

The main principles of state policy in the field of science

- selection and promotion of priority areas of scientific and technological development in accordance with national interests and long-term goals of the country's social and economic development and mobilizing resources for their implementation;
- formation and placement of state orders for science and technology;
- creation of necessary economic conditions for the development of scientific, scientific, technical and innovative activities, entrepreneurship and other forms of market infrastructure in the field of scientific and scientific and technical activities;
- financing research from the state budget;
- integration of science, scientific and technological developments, production and education;
- development of international scientific and technical cooperation;
- freedom of dissemination of scientific and technical information and promotion of scientific and technological achievements.

The scientific worker has the right to:

- the recognition by the author of the results of scientific and (or) scientific and technical activities and the filing of applications for inventions and other results of intellectual activity, as well as protection of intellectual property;
- obtaining in accordance with the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan income from the implementation of scientific and (or) scientific and technical activities, the author of which is;
- receiving rewards, incentives and benefits corresponding to his creative contribution;
- association in scientific collectives and other voluntary scientific communities;
- access to information on scientific and scientific and technical results in the order established by the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan;
- publication of the results of scientific and scientific and technical activities in the press;
- increase of scientific qualification.

The Government of the Republic of Kazakhstan:

develops a unified state policy in the field of science and scientific and technical activities and measures for its implementation;

determines the priority directions of fundamental and applied scientific research in the Republic of Kazakhstan;

develops state programs of scientific and technical development; develops and approves the procedure for organizing and conducting state scientific and technical expertise;

approves in accordance with this Law regulatory legal acts in the field of science and scientific and technical activities;

Responsibility for violation of legislation in the field of science

Persons guilty of violating legislation in the field of scientific and technical activities are liable in accordance with the legislative acts of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

