- YouTube released their apologies

We are so proud to represent LGBTQ+ voices on our platform--they're a key part of what YouTube is all about. The intention of Restricted Mode is to filter out mature content for the tiny subset of users who want a more limited experience. LGBTQ+ videos are available in Restricted Mode, but videos that discuss more sensitive issues may not be. We regret any confusion this has caused and are looking into your concerns. We appreciate your feedback and passion for making YouTube such an inclusive, diverse, and vibrant community.

Recommendations and Conclusions

- Before starting to claim, it is essential to make clear the problem
- Importance of identifying the precursor of the problem
- Find some possible solutions (in such a case, to write YouTube representatives about the problem)
- LGBT claimed YouTube for being restricted
- YouTube made a response relying on technical issues
- LGBT topic acted as a catalyst for Bloggers to exaggerate the situation
- Apologies for such a mistake from YouTube
