My idol is Sergey Bobrovsky

- Sergei Andreevich Bobrovsky was born in the city of Novokuznetsk, Kemerovo region on September 20, 1988.

About career

- He started playing for the main team at the age of 18. The team was an outsider of the Russian Ice Hockey Championship. And this allowed him to quickly gain experience. At 21, he, not future drafted, went to North America. After passing the training camp of the Philadelphia Flyers he was the basis. But in the process was to exchange for the Columbus team Blue Jackets.

Career for the national team.

- Bobrovsky was a backup of his peer Semyon Varlamov at the 2006 Junior World Championships, where the Russian team became the fifth. At the World Youth Championship 2008 Bobrovsky was the main goalkeeper of the national team and won bronze medals with her. On January 7, 2014, Bobrovsky joined the Russian national team for the 2014 Winter Olympics. In the same year, Bobrovsky was summoned by Oleg Zharkov to the national team to participate in the 2014 World Cup in Minsk. The confident game of Bobrovsky, who won all his eight matches and played twice on "zero" (against Switzerland in the group stage and France in the quarterfinals) allowed the Russian team to win the world championship .
