

Statistics

Polls

Discussions

News

Chairs preparation

Debates

Simulations

HSEIMUN CLUB

Articles

WELCOME TO HSEIMUN DIPLOMACY CLUB!

Guest speakers

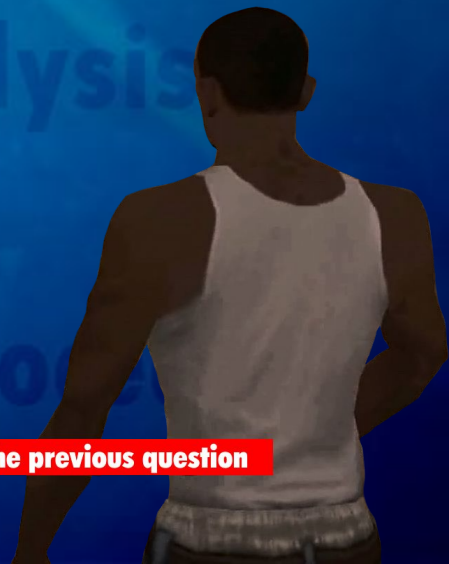

Political Analysis

Educational materials

Magazine

Rules of procedure

Motion to move to the previous question

SCHEDULE FOR TODAY

- Life-hacks for preparation
- Simulation of the Security Council
- Test on the previous (but not following) material
- Pretty slide with cats telling “Thanks for coming!!1!1” and “See you next Saturday!!1!”

SEND HERE YOUR CLAUSES

HSE INTERNATIONAL MODEL UNITED NATIONS

hseimunsimulations@yandex.ru

LIFE-HACKS FOR PREPARATION

- Firstly, what do you need to write? – Clause, Policy Statement, Speeches
- Wrap your head around your agenda – Read study guide from Chairs, official UN bodies' reports, scientific articles and researches and the latest news, basically not only Wikipedia
- Have something to refer to - Study thoroughly previously adopted legal acts, resolutions, conventions, agreements and, of course, UN Charter
- Don't reinvent the wheel – Check previously adopted solutions, sanctions, embargoes, in order to avoid repeating or plagiarism, think of something new and extraordinary

- Don't be isolationist – Find materials and facts not only for your country, but also for other key players in the agenda, look for something compromising about them 😊
- Complement with numbers – Use statistics, infographics and other data to understand the level of importance and justify your own suggestions (<https://ourworldindata.org/>; <https://fundforpeace.org/fsi/>; CIA Archives and etc.)
- Be always aware – Monitor the list of news agencies, informational projects or other media sources to know the situation from different sides, and because everything can change in one second (The Economist, BBC, Russia Today, Anadolu Agency, DW, Al-Jazeera, LiveUAMap)
- Like a gentleman - Make a list of phrases for diplomatic etiquette, practice writing speeches to your arguments, learn to speak expressively
- Before all else, be armed (Machiavelli) - write out all the necessary facts and ideas in thesis, print important documents for demonstration

CIVIL WAR IN LIBYA

SIMULATION OF THE SECURITY COUNCIL

Higher School of Economics, nab.Kanala Griboyedova 123A, aud.401
October 26: Saturday 16:50-18:10

hseimun.org

THANKS FOR COMING!!1! SEE YOU THE NEXT SATURDAY!!1!

