

PIE CHARTS

Contribution to the economy of Turkey by sector

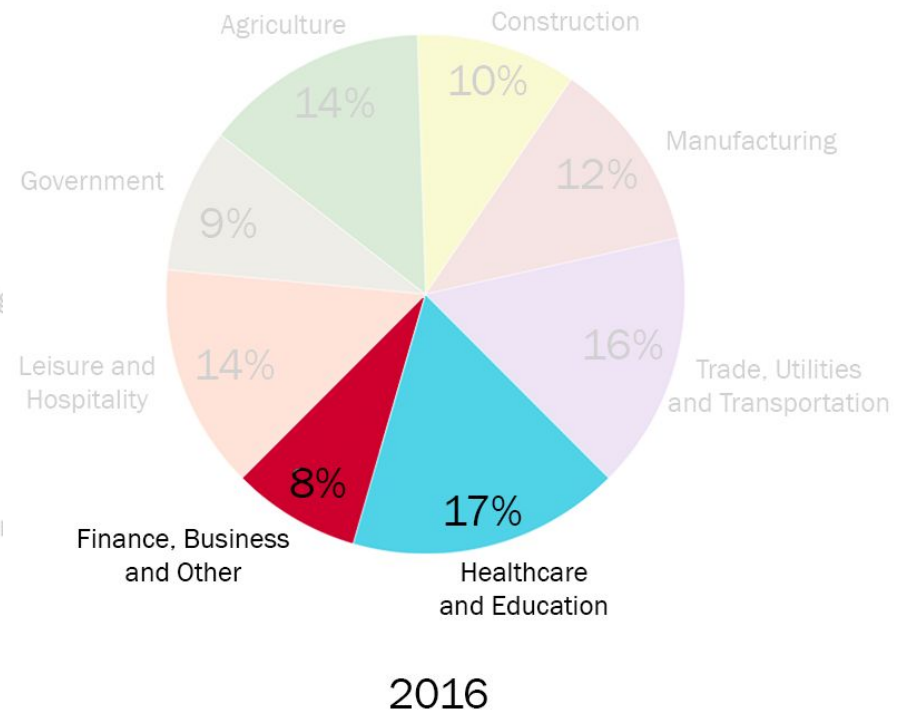

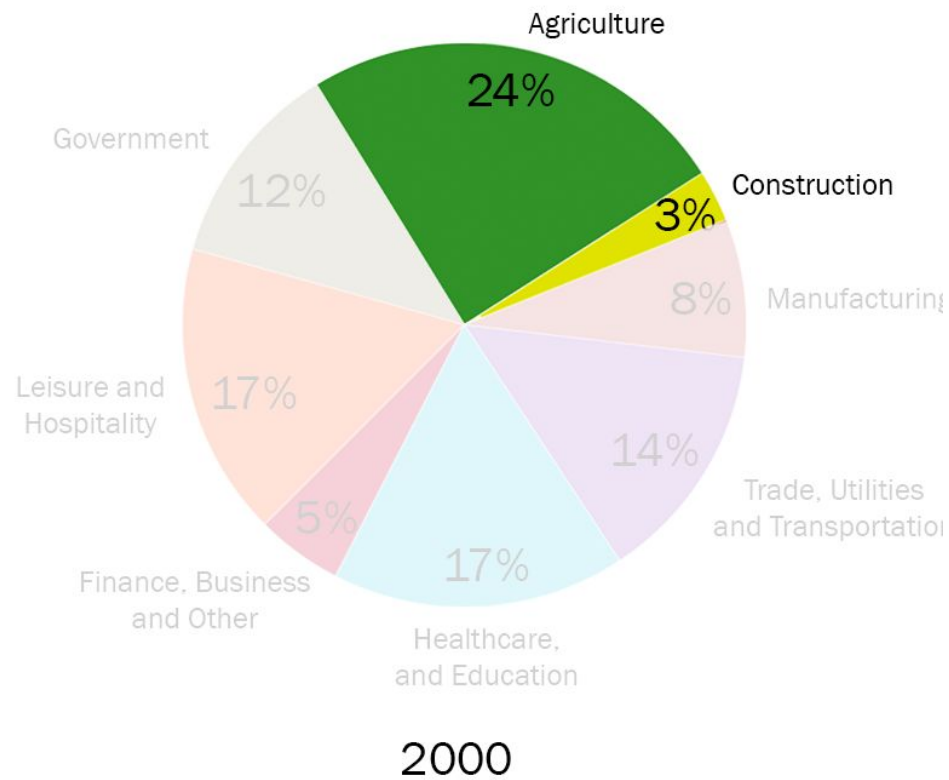

Overview

two main options to describe key features:

- find the biggest and smallest slices of each pie chart
- find which slices became bigger/smaller or didn't change

| | |
|--|---|
| Describing majority | the lion's share of... the vast majority... by far the most... _____ has a slight majority |
| Describing minority/ insignificancy | a small stake holds a rather miniscule share makes up an insignificant part is rather negligible next to none |
| Describing share | roughly a quarter of half of the pie is allotted to... the chart is partitioned into eight sections contains four items of equal size |
| Examples demonstrating some of the above phrases in action. | <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • The chart is partitioned into six sections, three of which make up more than a 60% share. • The countries of Lebanon, Syria and Kuwait, make up a rather miniscule part of the Arab world geographically. • Africa takes the lion's share of the pie, producing over 50% of the world's diamonds in 2009. |

Overall, at the beginning of the period construction contributed the least to the economy of Turkey and agriculture was the most significant economic sector. In comparison, at the end of the period healthcare and education became the largest economic segments and the lowest contribution was made by financial, business and other services.

Percentage per sector

- sector X was 3%
- sector X made up 3%
- sector X accounted for 3%
- sector X comprised 3% of [the whole chart]

Construction sector accounted for 3% of Turkey's economy in 2000, and experienced a more than threefold increase to one-tenth in 2016. Economic income from trade, utilities and transportation was 14% in 2000 and experienced a slight growth of 2% in 2016. At the beginning of the period, manufacturing and finance, business and other services made up 8% and 5% of Turkey's economy, respectively, and these figures rose to 12% and 8% in 2016.

