Reading and listening

My name is Amrita and I live in Bangalore in India. It's a big city with about 8.5 million people. I live in a flat with my friend Geeta. We study computer studies at the same university. We get up at 7.30 a.m. and we go to university by bus. We start classes at 9.00 a.m. and then finish at 4.30 p.m. In the evenings, we go out a lot. We don't have dinner at home – we go to a restaurant with friends.

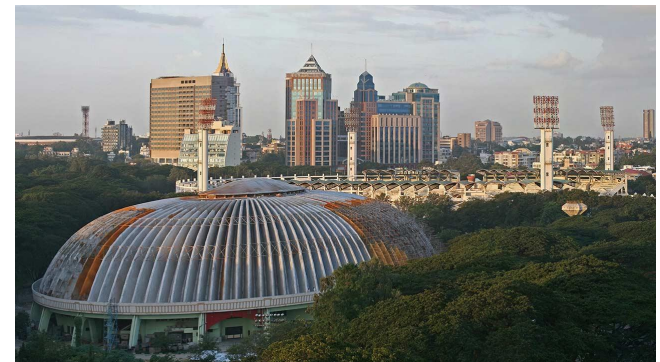

My parents are Jairam and Sanjula. They live in a small village 100 km south of Bangalore. They don't live in a flat – they live in a house. They get up very early – at 5.30 a.m. My father and his friends are fishermen. They work for a small company, and they work very long hours. They don't go to work by bus – they walk to the river. In the evenings, they have dinner at home with their families.

Are the statements true or false?

Nicolae from Romania works in a pub in Manchester:
 “British people like children but not in restaurants and pubs. In my pub we have a rule: “No children under 12”. People in Britain drink a lot of coffee – cappuccino and espresso are really popular. They drink a lot of beer too – both men and women”.

Alexandra from Russia is a student at Bristol university:
 “This is not a good country for smokers! Many coffee bars and restaurants are “no-smoking”. I live with three British students and they don’t smoke. When I want a cigarette, I go into the garden”.

Carlos is a tourist from Spain:
 People read newspapers everywhere – on the train, on the bus, at the bus stop. And the newspapers are really big! Cars stop in Britain when you stand on the zebra crossing – it’s incredible! Cars don’t stop for you in Madrid”.

Marilia from Brazil works as a housekeeper in in a British family Cambridge:
 “I think my family is typical. The woman doesn’t cook – she just puts a pizza in the microwave. But she watches cooking programs on TV every day! The man cooks at the weekend – he makes fantastic Indian curry! Their child has a terrible diet. She eats fast food and goes to Burger King every week”.
