How do you think...

- What does Harry usually do in Hogwarts?
- What does Harry Potter usually eat at Hogwarts?
 - What time does Harry go to school?
 - What time does he have lunch?

- A photograph of Harry Potter and his classmates in graduation gowns sitting at a breakfast table. The table is laden with various British breakfast foods, including sausages, kippers, porridge, fried tomatoes, and toast with marmalade. In the foreground, there is a large platter of fried chicken, a plate of corn on the cob, and a small metal cup. The background shows other graduates in gowns, some with ties and pocket squares.
- Harry and his classmates breakfast on sausages, kippers, porridge, fried tomatoes, and toast with marmalade, and dine on roast beef and Yorkshire pudding, lamb chops, steak-and-kidney pie, shepherd's pie, Cornish pasties, treacle tart.

Daily Routines at Hogwarts

- During breakfast, the morning mail arrives in a flurry of hundreds of owls. A bell signals the start of the first class at 9 am. There are two morning classes with a break between (signaled by a bell), followed by lunch and a break. After lunch, classes resume at 1 pm.

The School Year at Hogwarts

- The year begins on September 1
- Hogwarts Express leaves King's Cross Station at 11 a.m.
- Classes begin on September 2 – schedules handed out at breakfast.
- Supper is served in the Great Hall toward evening, after which the students are expected to be in their House common rooms for studying and socializing. Curfew for older students is 9 pm (OP).

RUSSIA I have breakfast at seven o'clock because I start school at ten past eight (unfortunately). I have lunch at school at two o'clock. I finish school and go home at three o'clock. I don't watch TV. I have dinner at eight and I go to bed at about ten o'clock. I go to school on Saturday morning.

Life in Hogwarts

Hogwarts is not an ordinary school. It is a school of Magic! But as in many other schools in many countries, the school year there begins on September 1.

Magic starts when students arrive at King's Cross station. It is a real railway station in London and hundreds of trains leave from its platforms every day. But have you ever seen platform 9¾? There are no platforms with such numbers in any railway station. The train to Hogwarts goes from platform 9¾! To get there future Hogwarts students have to go through... a wall!

Every Hogwarts student belongs to one of four Houses. As one of the characters says, '... your House will be something like your family within Hogwarts. You will have classes with the rest of your House, sleep in your House dormitory, and spend free time in your House common room.'

A magic hat called the Sorting Hat decides where a student belongs. There are no exams. There are no tests. The hat does all the work! The hat thinks and talks and sorts out. It scans a student's knowledge, personality and abilities. All a student has to do is sit on a stool and put on a hat. Seems easy, but you can't cheat the magic hat!

The academic year starts with a celebration. Students and teachers sit at a long table and enjoy lots of nice food and drinks. Classes begin on September 2 and go on until June. There are two terms in the academic year with two week holiday breaks in between. Like many schools in real life!

Exams are held the first week of June. Results come out the second week of June. There are celebrations at Halloween, Christmas, Easter and at the end of the academic year. At Christmas and Easter holidays most of the students and some of the teachers go home for a break. All teachers and students leave Hogwarts during the summer.

Classes of Hogwarts

The background of the entire image is a night scene of Hogwarts castle. The castle is illuminated from within, with warm yellow lights glowing from the windows and towers. The sky is dark blue with scattered white clouds and a few stars. The castle's architecture is detailed, with many spires and turrets. The overall mood is mysterious and magical.
