Ex 5,p31.

Look at the picture and say what he (she, they) has been doing.

●-He's been walking in the rain.

They're wet. What have they been doing?

What has she been doing?

What has she been doing?

We usually use Present Perfect with following time expressions:

- 1. She has known him for two years.
- 2. They've been married since 2010.
- 3. We've just done this exercise.
- 4. We've already read this book. 5. She hasn't checked her answers yet.
- 6. Have you ever had guitar lessons?
You've never been to London, have you?

We usually use Present Perfect Continuous with following time expressions:

- 1. I've been learning English for five years. 2. He's been living in this house since he was born.
- 3. I've just been reading the news.

Fill in the gaps with already, ever, for, just, never, since, yet:

- 1. I haven't listened to this song... Is it really good? 2. We've been waiting for you ... over half an hour. 3. Have you... played Monopoly before? 4. I'm afraid we've... made plans for this weekend, so we'll be busy.
- 5. Julia has been having piano lessons... she was four years old.
