

History of TNT development

Chemists noticed that the treatment of combustible substances with nitric acid leads to the creation of explosives

Josef Wilbrand, a German chemist, studied the properties of toluene in 1863

Josef Wilbrand, a German chemist, studied the properties of toluene in 1863

Trinitrotoluene can be drilled, planed, sawed, melted, that is, do whatever you want. Projectile designers began using trinitrotoluene as the explosive of their products

