SA: Well, in the first place, it's important to explain why the building or the place is interesting, isn't it?

SB: Of course, so you would have to say how old it is and also include some of the history of the place.

SA: Yes, I agree. In my opinion, you should also explain the purpose of the building or place, who built it and why.

SB: People will need to know how to get there as well, and how much it will cost them to visit.

SA: Yes, we should include that information. I don't think that we need to say whether we like it or not, but we should mention how popular it is.

SB: Definitely, people like to go to well-known places.

SA: And if it is a place that is being threatened by something, like development, or it needs repairing, we should mention that because then maybe the visitors will donate some money to help.

SB: Yes, that's a good idea.

Moscow, the capital city of Russia, is the largest city in Europe. There are many famous historical buildings there as well as some fantastic, newer architecture.

Visitors should definitely visit the Kremlin, Red Square and Alexander Gardens. One of the best art galleries is The Pushkin Museum of Fine Art.
