

Granite.

- Granite is a common type intrusive igneous rock with granular texture. By definition, granite is an igneous rock with at least 20% quartz and up to 65% feldspar .

Now granite exist only on Earth where it forms a large part of the continental crust .

Granite is a natural source of radiation, like most natural stones.

Granite is widely used as a finishing material.

Thank you for your attention.