Welcome to the city of angels - Los Angeles!

Los Angeles (Los Angeles)

Los Angeles (sometimes Los Angeles) - commonly known as the "City of Angels" (City of Angeles), the abbreviation L.A. is often used. Los Angeles is the 2nd city in the United States by number of residents after New York. The number of inhabitants is more than 4 million. The population of Greater Los Angeles, stretching nearly 500 square miles, exceeds 17.7 people. This urban agglomeration, stretching along the Pacific coast, is the 13th most populous in the world.

Los Angeles is a global city. The strongest economy is based on international trade, entertainment, manufacturing and tourism. In addition, an important role belongs to the financial and telecommunications sector of the economy, medicine, transport and law. The port of Los Angeles is the 5th busiest in the world, and the economy is 3rd in the USA (after New York and Chicago) and 8th in the world. However, it is obvious that Hollywood and the entertainment industry have brought worldwide fame to the city. Formally, Bollywood in Mumbai produces more films than Hollywood, but the scale of box office is not comparable. In addition to Hollywood, the world center for the creation of films, other types of media business are concentrated in Los Angeles. The most important of which are: the production of a television product, computer games and sound recording. All this allows reasonably to call Los Angeles "the world capital of entertainment."

A photograph of the Hollywood sign, a landmark in Los Angeles, California. The sign is a large, white, three-dimensional structure spelling out the word "HOLLYWOOD" in all capital letters. It is situated on a hillside covered in dry, brownish-yellow brush and sparse green trees. The sky is a clear, bright blue. In the background, a few small white structures and a person can be seen on the ridge of the hill.
