Presentation made by Karikh Leonid 9 B class

A long time ago, a tradition appeared in Russia that marks the border of winter and spring, and which exists until now, its name "Maslenitsa". In the past that was an Eastern Slavic Religious and folk holiday.

Now it is just annual national event. In all cities there are many festivals, people organizing contests and entertainments, having fun.

The main attribute of this event are pancakes, because it is the symbol of sun, without them there is not Maslenitsa, even if you did not go to the city festival, they need to be cooked at home.

Each festival ends with the burning of a scarecrow.
