My parents and I have just spent a day in London. It was fantastic!

When we first arrived, we set off to explore, despite the rain! We walked all the way along the river, and spent the morning at Tate Modern, a huge art gallery. We also had a ride on the London Eye because we wanted to see right across the city – and we weren't disappointed! Although it was cloudy, we still saw some wonderful views, so we were very happy. Then in the evening we took a bus tour around different parts of the city, which was great fun, and then we ate in a really nice restaurant. After that we went home. We were tired but very satisfied!
