POINTS

1. Point of Personal Privilege:

- Refers to the comfort and well-being of the delegate,
- May only interrupt a speaker if it refers to audibility,
- Is not debatable
- Does not require a second

2. Point of Order (Refers to procedural matters only, i.e. if the chair makes an error in the order of debate or in the setting of debate time)

3. Right to follow up

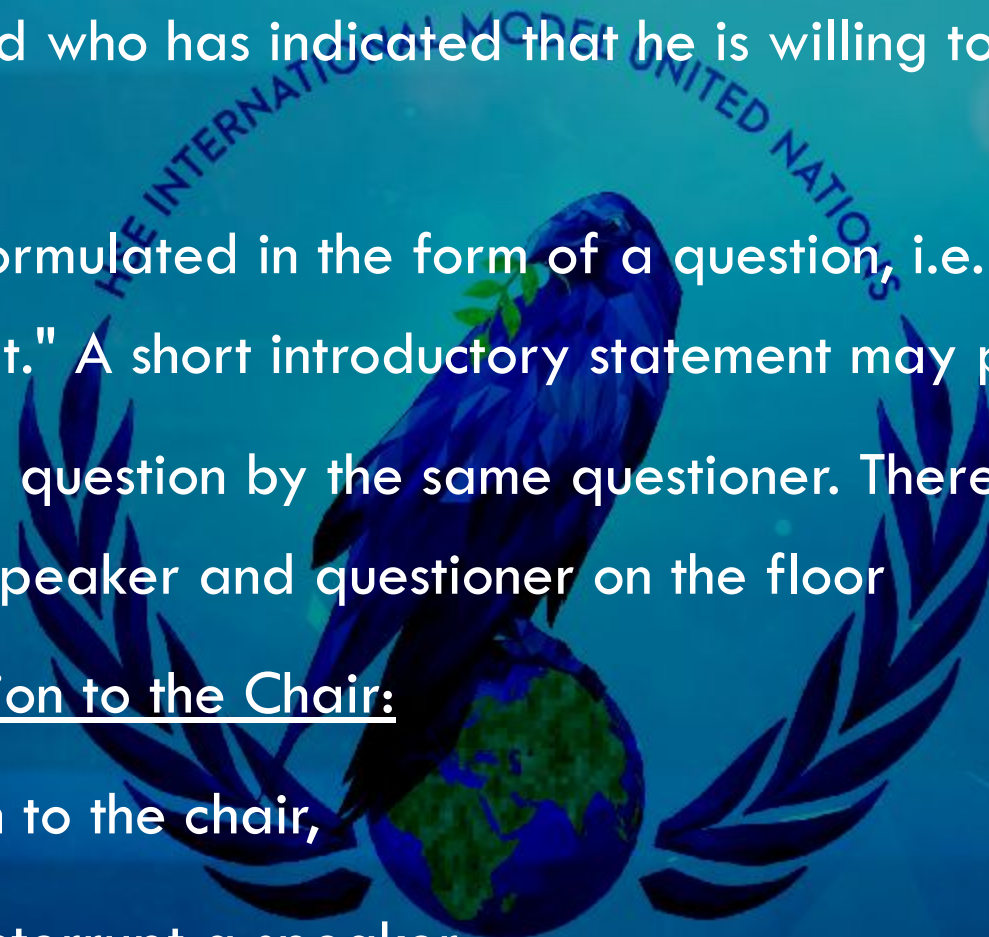

4. Point of information to the speaker (A question directed to the delegate having the floor, and who has indicated that he is willing to answer points of information):

- Must be formulated in the form of a question, i.e. "Is the speaker aware that." A short introductory statement may precede the question,
- Only ONE question by the same questioner. There will be no dialogue between speaker and questioner on the floor

5. Point of Information to the Chair:

- A question to the chair,
- May not interrupt a speaker,
- Can refer to almost anything, from issues to personal priorities

6. Point of Parliamentary Inquiry:

- Point of information to the chair concerning Rules of Procedures,
- Example: "Could the Chair please explain to the house what is meant by closed debate?"

MOTIONS

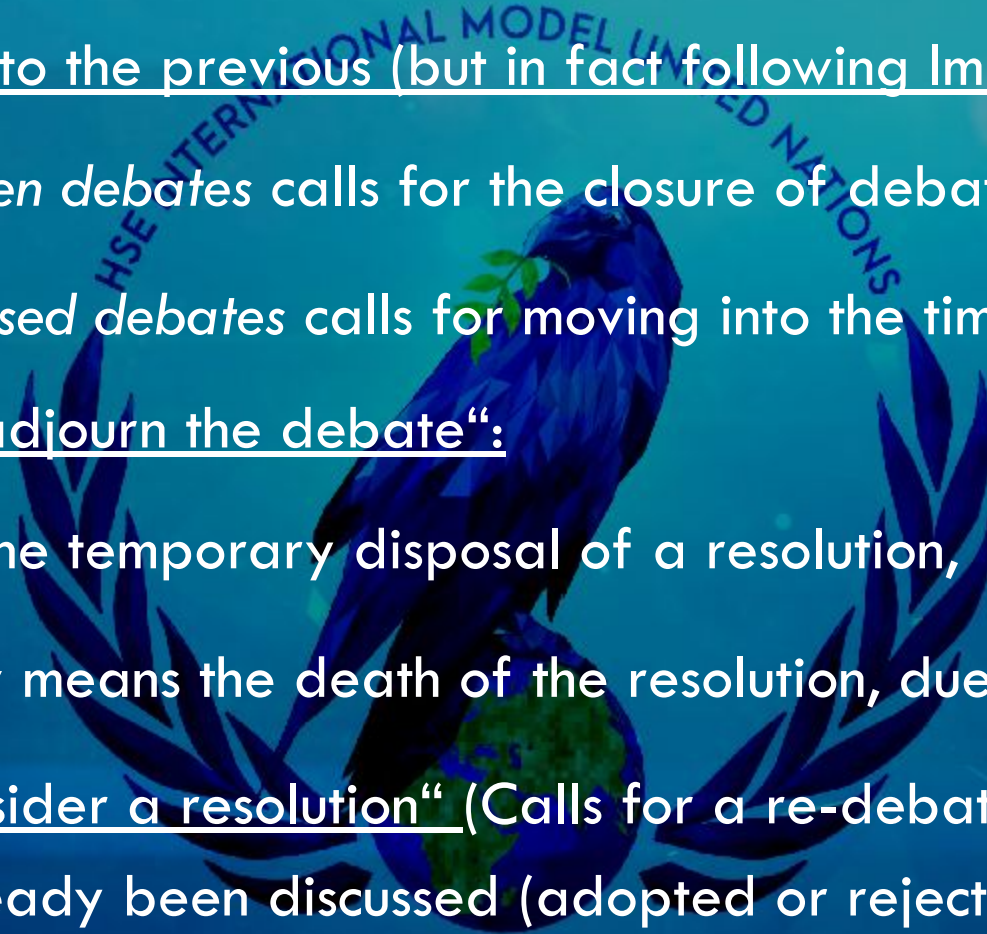

1. "Motion to move to the previous (but in fact following Imao) question"

- During open debates calls for the closure of debate and vote,
- During closed debates calls for moving into the time against;

2. "Motion adjourn the debate":

- Calls for the temporary disposal of a resolution,
- Practically means the death of the resolution, due to lack of time

3. "Motion to reconsider a resolution" (Calls for a re-debate and re-vote of a motion that has already been discussed (adopted or rejected))

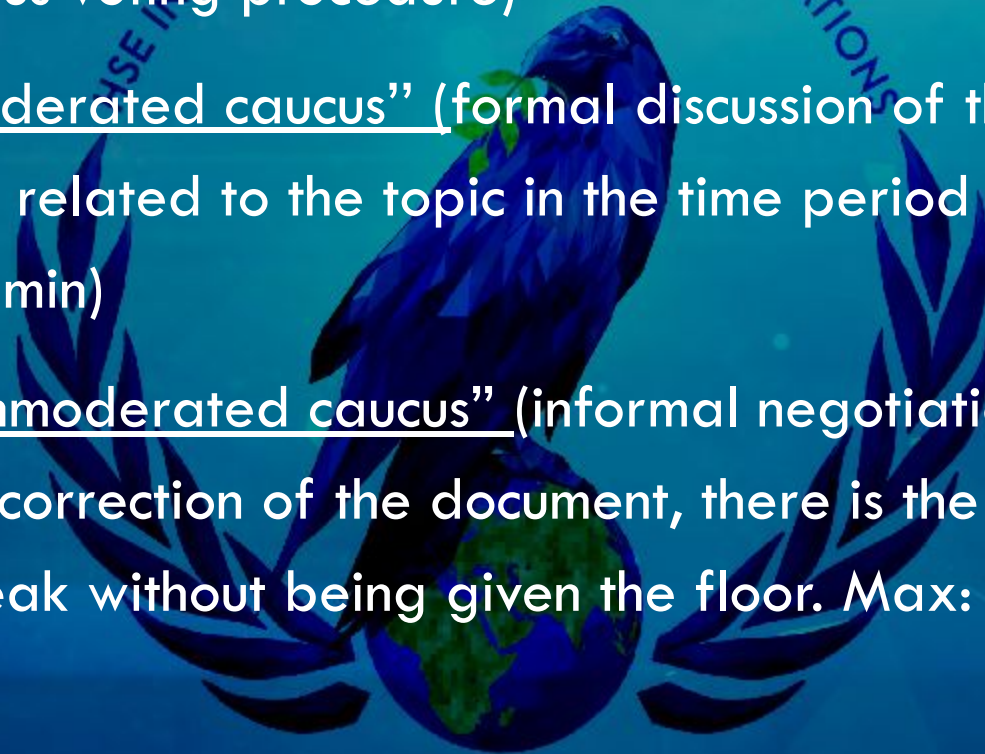

4. “Motion to extend debate time” (Calls for extension of the debates)

5. “Motion to divide the house” (roll-call vote; may be used in case of arguable results of the previous voting procedure)

6. “Motion for a moderated caucus” (formal discussion of the agenda by delivering speeches related to the topic in the time period set by the delegates’ consensus. Max: 20 min)

7. “Motion for an unmoderated caucus” (informal negotiations with the purpose of consultation and correction of the document, there is the right to move freely about the room, speak without being given the floor. Max: 20 min)

THANKS FOR COMING!!1! SEE YOU THE NEXT SATURDAY!!1!
