АРХИТЕКТУРА МЕСОПОТАМИ И

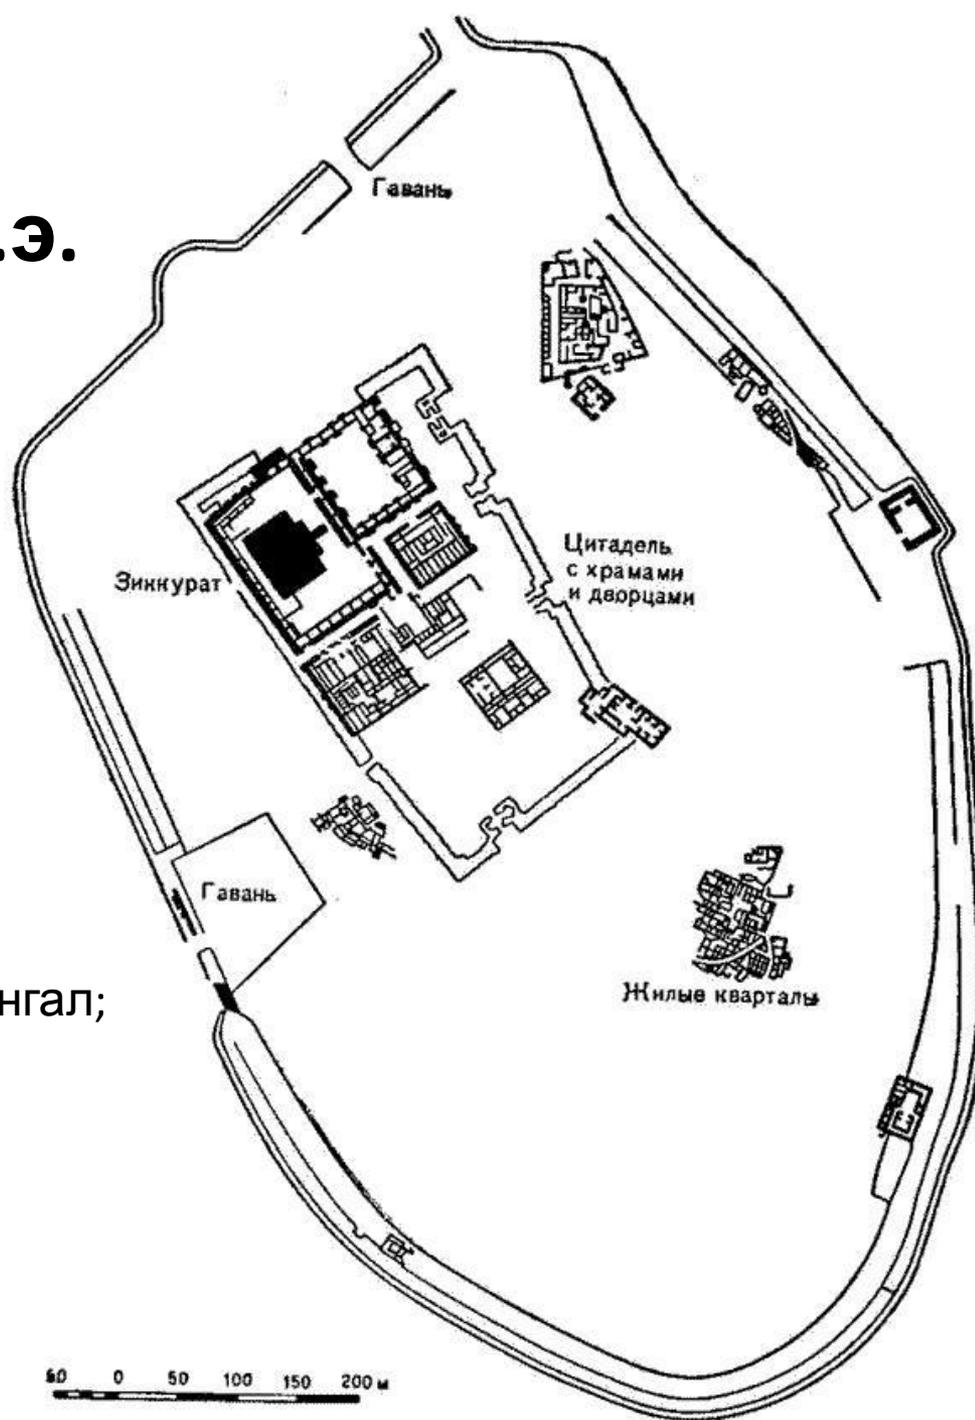

A large, circular clay tablet relief from the Sumerian period. The relief is divided into two main sections by a central hole. On the left, a large figure, likely a king or deity, stands with his right arm raised and his left hand on his chest. He wears a long, pleated garment. On the right, a group of people, including a woman in a long, pleated dress and several smaller figures, are depicted. The background is filled with intricate cuneiform inscriptions. The entire relief is set within a circular frame.
