

Tourism in Kazan today

Nowadays, tourism in the world is a very important issue. We would like to talk about Kazan, one of the most attractive cities in Russia. First of all we will talk about the most famous hotels and restaurants.

1. Tatarskaya
Usadba

The 'Tatar Farmstead' is located adjacent to the Old Tatar Settlement and plays on traditional themes, both in the restaurant's decor and menu. There's a full range of Tatar classics, including several dishes with horsemeat and lamb, as well as hearty soups and stews, other mains and desserts. Good selection of Tatar pastries as well, including crunchy chak chak.

2. Dom
Tatarskoi
Kulinarii

The background image shows a restaurant interior. At the top, there is a large, ornate stained glass skylight with a grid pattern and colorful floral designs. Below the skylight, the ceiling is white with a grid pattern. The walls are dark wood. In the foreground, there is a table set for dining with a white tablecloth, white plates, silverware, and a glass. A small vase with greenery is on the table. The floor is dark wood with a patterned rug.

The hushed, overly formal setting and mandatory coat check lend a faint whiff of tourist trap, but don't let that dissuade you. The menu is filled with Tatar specialities, such as (better than it sounds) stewed horsemeat and vegetables, you might not find elsewhere. Prices are hefty, but the quality is high too and the service faultless.

3. Pashmir Restaurant

Fusion food done very well as standard European meals are reinvented with aromatic fruits and local spices – think Italian mozzarella salad with persimmon. The setting is upscale, though not overly formal. Book ahead.

•4.Priyut Kholostyaka

It's is a spotlessly white oasis of style with surrealist glass painting and coat hangers shaped like wild garlic flowers. International food, including the inevitable sushi, is on the menu, and it serves the best latte this side of the Volga. The restaurant is below ground, and there's a shisha bar on the ground floor.

•5. Giuseppe Restaurant

A close-up photograph of a plate of spaghetti. The spaghetti is coated in a vibrant red tomato-based sauce. It is topped with a generous amount of shredded orange cheese and fresh green herbs, likely basil, which are scattered throughout the dish. The plate is white with a subtle, embossed floral or scrollwork pattern. The background is dark and out of focus.

One of Kazan's longest-running Italian restaurants is also one of the best, and close to the kremlin if you feel like a formal meal between sights or in the evening. Dress quite well for this.

•6. Beanhearts Coffee

Popular spot on Kazan's pedestrianised party street serves 39 different types of beer on tap as well as a small menu of beer-friendly foods such as burgers (R350) in a welcoming, student-friendly atmosphere.

•7.Hotel Art
