

The Ideal Family

The Ideal Family

The ideal family is the eternal love of parents, the eternal love of husband and wife, and the eternal love of children .

What do you think an ideal family is?

We think that the ideal family is very close who people has much in common, love each over, spend many time together, support and help each other. And this family should be friendly.

Husband and wife must love and respect each other. Husband is a breadwinner of the family. All the members of family share difficulties and responsibilities. In ideal family all the members support each other in difficult situations.

It's generally known, that the members of a family are closely relative people. No matter, big or small the family is, there must be warm atmosphere, and good relations between the members of a family. And such family we can call an ideal family.

Thank you for your attention!