

Shared joy is a double joy,
shared sorrow is half a sorrow.

The only way to have a friend is to be one.

A friend is, as it were, a second self.

A relationship is like a house. When a light bulb burns out you do not go and buy a new house, you fix the light bulb.

On the road
between homes of friends,
grass does not grow.

