Dave: Hi! I'm back!

Julie: Hello. Did you buy everything we needed?

Dave: I think so.

Julie: How much did you spend?

Dave: Eh ... I don't remember exactly ... I'll have to look at the receipt. A little more than £20, I think.

Julie: More than £20? That sounds like a lot!

Dave: Well, I got some extra things ... Onions, olive oil, honey, rice and yoghurt. Now ... let me see ...

(plastic bags and paper shuffling) Right ... The onions were forty-five pence, the olive oil ... the olive oil was three pounds ninety-nine, and then ...

Julie: Doesn't olive oil cost a lot these days ...?

Dave: Yes, doesn't it ... So, the honey was one pound twenty pence, and the rice – I thought I'd get some rice and make a risotto tonight, what do you think?

Julie: Great idea.

Dave: So anyway, the rice was sixty-five pence.

And I think ... I think that's all the extra stuff ...

Oh, hang on, yoghurt as well. That was fifty pence.

Julie: So how much all together?

Dave: Twenty pounds three pence.

Julie: That's not so bad, I suppose. You got all these extra things.

Dave: Yeah ... come on, then. Help me put everything away.

Julie: OK.
