Medical School

“If you want to bring the insights of the basic and social sciences to the benefit of fellow human beings, there has never been a better time to be in medicine. We are delighted that you are interested in Harvard Medical School.”

Edward M. Hundert, MD

Dean for Medical Education

History

Harvard Medical School was founded on September 19, 1782, after President John Warren presented a report to the president and researchers at Harvard College with plans for a medical school. It is the third oldest medical school in the United States.

The founding members of Harvard Medical School were John Warren, Benjamin Waterhouse, and Aaron Dexter.

The lectures were first held in the basement of the Harvard Hall and then in Holden Chapel. Students did not pay tuition fees, but bought tickets for five or six daily lectures. The first two students graduated in 1788.

After many relocations in 1906, the medical school consolidated its current location in the Longwood Medical and Academic Zone.
