

Count vs. Uncount

play

Choose 'much' or 'many'. The donkey will tell you if you are wrong. If you are correct, the duckling will jump with joy.

many

countable

much

uncountable

Count vs. Uncount

Hurry up! I don't have much ..... time to play.

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

Great! There are many carrots in the garden.

Count vs. Uncount

There's always too much homework for the weekend!

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

I don't eat much bread.

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. UNCOUNT

Look! There are many clouds in the sky today.

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

There isn't much..... sugar in the house. We need to buy some.

Count vs. Uncount

How much orange juice do you drink?

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

There are many people on the farm.

Count vs. UNCOUNT

How much luggage do you have?

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

You haven't eaten ..... food today. Are you OK?

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. UNCOUNT

I've got many presents for my birthday.

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

He eats many sweets. That's why he is overweight.

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

I can't eat ..... chocolate.
I'm on a diet.

many

countable

much

uncountable

next

Count vs. Uncount

There isn't much..... honey left in the jar. What happened?

many

countable

much

uncountable

end