

Michael Jackson

My favorite singer is Michael Jackson. I like his songs very much because they are full of energy and very melodic. I also like the way he dances.*

his moonwalk was driving all people crazy, he and only he truly deserves the title King of pop!*

 He started singing in public when he was only five years old. Since then he had been working like a grown-up. He had never had free time to play with other children and he led a very stressful life. He felt safe with animals and children and he feared crowds. He was a bit childish too. He loved kids' stories and his favorite hero was Peter Pan.*

Whether he was crazy, childish, eccentric or just shy, he was no fool. He created a brilliantly successful image, he made a lot of money and spent it on the things he wanted. Who wouldn't like to do the same?*
