Jack-o'-Lantern

A traditional Irish Jack-o'-Lantern in the Museum of Ireland.

Modern Jack-o'-Lantern made from a turnip.

On Halloween boys and girls put on old and funny clothes. People put pumpkins on the window-sills. They cut eyes, noses and mouths in the pumpkins. Then they put candles into them. So the pumpkin looks like a face.

Candy corn and candy pumpkins

In North America candies in the form of a corn and a pumpkin are very popular with children.

On this holiday the children go from house to house and knock at the doors. They say, "Trick or treat."

People give them sweets, fruit, cakes and many other tasty things. This is a nice, fun and tasty autumn holiday, isn't it?
