Essay

“Family or friends?”

People have different points of view on what is more important: family or friends.

Some people think that life isn't worth living without friends.

Others believe that their family is the dearest people they have...

And there are people who suppose the idea that they are lucky because they have a loving family and true friends...

As for me, ...

A good friend is someone who...

- sees life through your eyes.
- supports you in any situations, no matter if you are right or wrong.
- is good at listening; he / she is ready to listen to you for hours.
- keeps his / her promise and keeps you secrets.
- never tells you lies.
- always tells you the truth, no matter if you like it or not.
- never goes out with somebody else.
- can quarrel or even fight with you if you've done something wrong.
- forgives you for being rude or unfair towards him / her.
- gets angry if you are rude or unfair towards

Example: A good friend should support you If you are right.

- quarrel with you about silly unimportant things
- defend you if someone hurts you
- betray you in difficult situations
- support you if you are right
- support you if you are wrong
- appreciate your advice
- follow your advice in any case
- envy your success
- avoid conflicts with you
- cheer you up
- ignore your interests
- care about your feelings
- feel jealous if sometimes you are more successful
