

Pilot

The profession

The profession of an aviation pilot involves the management of various air transport.

The first requirement for the pilot is absolute health.

Long flights require endurance and stress resistance.

For the successful management of crew required leadership qualities and confidence in their actions.

Where to study

Aviation pilot training takes place in specialized secondary and higher educational institutions. The applicant can choose between educational institutions of civil and military orientation. The reason for refusal to accept an applicant may be even a slight deviation in medical indications

Advantage and Disadvantage the profession

- Advantage:
- Good salary
- Chance to travel
- Disadvantage:
- Regular flights
- Emotional stress during the flight

-
- 1) What could be the reason for refusal for the pilot profession?
  - 2) What should a pilot have?
  - 3) Between what directions can the applicant choose