A sunset over a body of water with dead trees in the foreground. The sky is a mix of orange, yellow, and blue, with the sun low on the horizon. The water is calm, reflecting the colors of the sky. In the foreground, several dead, skeletal trees stand in the water, their branches reaching out. The overall mood is serene and somewhat melancholic.

Surprisingly, the driest State in the driest continent has more than 3,700 kilometres of varied coastline and the Murray River weaves its magic through 650 kilometres of South Australia.
