Dear Steve,

Thanks a lot for your letter. It was really interesting to know about your sister's marriage. I'm sorry for not writing during a long time.

We also have lots of different projects in our school, so I have to read some textbooks. Frankly speaking, I prefer reading detective stories. My mom likes novels. As for dad, reading is not his cup of tea.

Can you write me about your favorite book? Who is your favorite author? What was your last book about?

Well, I have to go now. I've got much homework to do.

I'm looking forward to your reply.

Best wishes,
Hellen

A. Anyway, I've got to go now. Loads of homework (unfortunately!).

B. I'm sorry to hear you've had an argument with your best friend and that you're not speaking at the moment. Yes, it has happened to me too, and it's awful, isn't it?

C. Carol

D. Dear Sally,

E.

Write back soon!

F. Thanks for your letter. It was great to hear from you! Well done on passing your exams!

G. I think you need to ask yourself one question: what's more important – that argument or your friendship? I remember when I asked myself that it all became clear. I realised my friendship with Chris was far more important. I called him immediately and told him. We became friends again immediately. Maybe you should do the same thing. Let me know what happens! Good luck!
